The Lazarus Project Aleksandar Hemon:

The Lazarus Project Aleksandar Hemon, 2008-05-01 The only novel from MacArthur Genius Award winner Aleksandar Hemon the National Book Critics Circle Award winning The Lazarus Project On March 2 1908 nineteen year old Lazarus Averbuch an Eastern European Jewish immigrant was shot to death on the doorstep of the Chicago chief of police and cast as a would be anarchist assassin A century later a young Eastern European writer in Chicago named Brik becomes obsessed with Lazarus s story Brik enlists his friend Rora a war photographer from Sarajevo to join him in retracing Averbuch s path Through a history of pogroms and poverty and a prism of a present day landscape of cheap mafiosi and even cheaper prostitutes the stories of Averbuch and Brik become inextricably intertwined creating a truly original provocative and entertaining novel that confirms Aleksandar Hemon often compared to Vladimir Nabokov as one of the most dynamic and essential literary voices of our time From the author of The Book of My Lives Love and Obstacles Aleksandar Hemon, 2009 The linked stories of Love and Obstacles center around a young man from Yugoslavia who immigrates to America In dazzling prose Hemon himself an immigrant from Yugoslavia portrays the complications the obstacles of growing up in a Communist but cosmopolitan country and the disintegration of that country and the consequent uprooting and move to America in young adulthood The Book of My Lives Aleksandar Hemon, 2014-01-28 The first nonfiction book searing revealing unforgettable from one of today s most acclaimed writers In Sarajevo a young boy s life is consumed with street soccer with his casually multiethnic group of friends resentment of his younger sister and trips abroad with his engineer cum beekeeper father Lazarus Project. Hebrew Aleksandar Hemon, 2008 In The Lazarus Project his most ambitious and imaginative work yet Hemon brings to life an epic narrative born from a historical event the 1908 killing of Lazarus Averbuch a 19 year old Jewish immigrant who was shot dead by George Shippy the chief of Chicago police after being admitted into his home to deliver an important letter The mystery of what really happened that day remains unsolved Shippy claimed Averbuch was an anarchist with ill intent and from this opening set piece Hemon springs a century ahead to tell the story of Vladimir Brik a Bosnian American writer living in Chicago who gets funding to travel to Eastern Europe and unearth what really happened The Lazarus Project deftly weaves the two stories together cross cutting the aftermath of Lazarus s death with Brik s journey and the tales from his traveling partner Rora a Bosnian war photographer The World and All That It Holds Aleksandar Hemon, 2023-01-24 The World and All That It Holds in all its hilarious heartbreaking erotic philosophical glory showcases Aleksandar Hemon s celebrated talent at its pinnacle It is a grand tender sweeping story that spans decades and continents It cements Hemon as one of the boldest voices in fiction As Archduke Franz Ferdinand arrives in Sarajevo one June day in 1914 Rafael Pinto is busy crushing herbs and grinding tablets behind the counter at the pharmacy he inherited from his estimable father It s not quite the life he had expected during his poetry filled student days in libertine Vienna but it s nothing a dash of laudanum from the high shelf a summer stroll and idle fantasies about passersby can t put in perspective

And then the world explodes In the trenches in Galicia fantasies fall flat Heroism gets a man killed quickly War devours all that they have known and the only thing Pinto has to live for are the attentions of Osman a fellow soldier a man of action to complement Pinto's introspective poetic soul a charismatic storyteller Pinto's protector and lover Together Pinto and Osman will escape the trenches survive near certain death tangle with spies and Bolsheviks Over mountains and across deserts from one world to another all the way to Shanghai it is Pinto's love for Osman with the occasional opiate interlude that keeps him going

Mapping Generations of Traumatic Memory in American Narratives Dana Mihăilescu, Roxana Oltean, Mihaela Precup, 2014-06-12 This volume collects work by several European North American and Australian academics who are interested in examining the performance and transmission of post traumatic memory in the contemporary United States The contributors depart from the interpretation of trauma as a unique exceptional event that shatters all systems of representation as seen in the writing of early trauma theorists like Cathy Caruth Shoshana Felman and Dominick LaCapra Rather the chapters in this collection are in conversation with more recent readings of trauma such as Michael Rothberg's multidirectional memory 2009 the role of mediation and remediation in the dynamics of cultural memory Astrid Erll 2012 Aleida Assman 2011 and Stef Craps focus on postcolonial witnessing and its cross cultural dimension 2013 The corpus of post traumatic narratives under discussion includes fiction diaries memoirs films visual narratives and oral testimonies A complicated dialogue between various and sometimes conflicting narratives is thus generated and examined along four main lines in this volume trauma in the context of multidirectional memory the representation of trauma in autobiographical texts the dynamic of public forms of national commemoration and the problematic instantiation of 9 11 as a traumatic landmark

My Prisoner Aleksandar Hemon, 2015-04-07 When Aleksandar Hemon and Velibor Bozovic became friends as teenagers in Sarajevo it was in Hemon's words pretty clear that our friendship was for life even if we could have no notion of what lay ahead of us In the coming years it became clear that their future was going to be entirely unlike anything they might have imagined Their beloved city was ripped to shreds by ethnic violence its citizens suffering the longest siege in the history of modern warfare Hemon was trapped abroad in Chicago when the siege began and unable to return home he watched in despair alone and helpless as the war unfolded in headlines and TV dispatches Bozovic meanwhile was trapped in Sarajevo with his family As the conflict accelerated he was conscripted into the Bosnian Army even as his father who had served in the Yugoslav People's Army since long before their country split apart was being held in a Bosnian POW camp In his essay My Prisoner Hemon tells Bo ović's story of life in Sarajevo during the siege His account revolves around one particular incident in the middle of the war when Bo ović was offered the chance to visit his father in the POW camp though not of course without an onerous quid pro quo Almost twenty years later in 2012 Hemon and Bo ović are still friends for life Hemon is now a writer in Chicago Bo ović is a photographer in Montreal Hemon has traveled to Canada with his daughter to see his friend's art installation My Prisoner about that wartime reunion with his father In this special ebook edition both versions of My Prisoner are presented together The result is a unique and extraordinary literary and artistic experience Note Hemon's essay appears in the Picador paperback and ebook editions of The Book of My Lives Bo ović's My Prisoner appears only in this enhanced ebook

The Question of Bruno Aleksandar Hemon, 2001 This collection of stories about love war espionage and beekeeping is an elegy for the vanished Yugoslavia and a journey through the intertwined history of a family and a nation

Migrant Aesthetics Glenda R. Carpio, 2023-10-31 Co-winner 2024 Matei Calinescu Prize Modern Language Association By most accounts immigrant literature deals primarily with how immigrants struggle to adapt to their adopted countries Its readers have come to expect stories of identity formation of how immigrants create ethnic communities and maintain ties to countries of origin Yet such narratives can center exceptional stories of individual success or obscure the political forces that uproot millions of people the world over Glenda R. Carpio argues that we need a new paradigm for migrant fiction Migrant Aesthetics shows how contemporary authors Teju Cole Dinaw Mengestu Aleksandar Hemon Valeria Luiselli Julie Otsuka and Junot Díaz expose the historical legacies and political injustices that produce forced migration through artistic innovation Their fiction rejects the generic features of immigrant literature especially the acculturation plot and the use of migrant narrators as cultural guides who must appeal to readerly empathy They emphasize the limits of empathy insisting instead that readers recognize their own roles in the realities of migration which like climate change is driven by global inequalities Carpio traces how these authors create literary echoes of the past showing how the history of neo colonialism links distinct immigrant experiences and can lay the foundation for cross ethnic migrant solidarity Revealing how migration shapes and is shaped by language and narrative Migrant Aesthetics casts fiction as vital testimony to past and present colonial imperial and structural displacement and violence

Plotting Justice Georgiana Banita, 2012-10-01

Have the terrorist attacks of September 11 shifted the moral coordinates of contemporary fiction And how might such a shift reflected in narrative strategies and forms relate to other themes and trends emerging with the globalization of literature This book pursues these questions through works written in the wake of 9 11 and examines the complex intersection of ethics and narrative that has defined a significant portion of British and American fiction over the past decade Don DeLillo Pat Barker Aleksandar Hemon Lorraine Adams Michael Cunningham and Patrick McGrath are among the authors Georgiana Banita considers Their work illustrates how post 9 11 literature expresses an ethics of equivocation in formal elements of narrative in a complex scrutiny of justice and in tense dialogues linking this fiction with the larger political landscape of the era Through a broad historical and cultural lens Plotting Justice reveals links between the narrative ethics of post 9 11 fiction and events preceding and following the terrorist attacks events that defined the last half of the twentieth century from the Holocaust to the Balkan War and those that 9 11 precipitated from war in Afghanistan to the Abu Ghraib scandal Challenging the rhetoric of the war on terror the book honors the capacity of literature to articulate ambiguous forms of resistance in ways that reconfigure the imperatives and responsibilities of narrative for the twenty first century

Nowhere Man Aleksandar Hemon, 2004-01-06

A native of Sarajevo where he spends his adolescence trying to become Bosnia's answer to John Lennon Jozef Pronek comes to the United States in 1992 just in time to watch war break out in his country but too early to be a genuine refugee Indeed Jozef's typical answer to inquiries about his origins and ethnicity is I am complicated And so he proves to be not just to himself but to the revolving series of shadowy but insightful narrators who chart his progress from Sarajevo to Chicago from a hilarious encounter with the first President Bush to a somewhat more grave one with a heavily armed Serb whom he has been hired to serve with court papers Moving disquieting and exhilarating in its virtuosity Nowhere Man is the kaleidoscopic portrait of a magnetic young man stranded in America by the war in Bosnia
