what kind of people write and where talent comes from In part two the subject shifts to writing as a craft Here authors ponder the creation of protagonists and points of view the writing of dialogue setting and description creating plots and the anatomy of style The final third of the book deals with the challenges and rewards that come with the writing life Subjects in this section include the economic realities of writing classes conferences and workshops dealing with rejection and bad reviews writing habits and rituals despair alcohol suicide and fame Articulated with elegant metaphor in straightforward prose or with wry wit the carefully selected and thoughtfully organized quotations come together to form a narrative that entertains informs and in the case of aspiring writers shows the way to better writing Writing for the Web Lynda Felder,2012 Many books offer instruction on how to use software programs to build Web sites podcasts and illustrations But Writing for the Web explains when and why an author might choose an illustration over a photograph motion graphics over text or a slice of Beethoven's Fifth over the sound of a bubbling brook Focusing on storytelling techniques that work best for digital media this book describes the essential skills and tools in a Web author's toolbox including a thorough understanding of grammar and style a critical eye for photography and an ear for just the right sound byte for a podcast Liberating Scholarly Writing Robert Nash,2019-03-01 This book provides an alternative to the more conventional modes of qualitative and quantitative inquiry currently used in professional training programs particularly in education It features a very accessible presentation that combines application rationale critique and inspiration and is itself an example of this kind of writing It teaches students how to use personal writing in order to analyze explicate and advance their ideas And it encourages minority students women and others to find and express their authentic voices by teaching them to use their own lives as primary resources for their scholarship A Work in Progress Margreet Dietz,2010 A writer will do anything to avoid the act of writing William Zinsser wrote in his classic On Writing Well To improve as writers we have to hone our skills by putting words on the page consistently The 33 exercises in this book will help you do just that In the process you will produce a draft for your own book and decide to complete that other manuscript you have been wrestling with A Work in Progress Exercises in Writing started as a personal challenge that helped me win the struggle with my first book Running Shoes Are a Girl's Best Friend Combining advice and encouragement from my favourite books on writing I committed to producing 2000 words a day for 10 consecutive days I wrote for quantity and found the result had potential quality This is my third book Let's get started on yours Praise for A Work in Progress Its crossover appeal alone existing as a book about both writing and running enlarges its potential audience and affords the author a chance to explore her own process a chance I feel is pretty significant She does a great job of it too at times overtly and other times almost subversively It's material I can consult linearly or more delightfully in single scoops and it fits in my pocket so I can carry it to a favourite reflection spot Writer's Digest on A Work in Progress Exercises in Writing Fiction Across Borders Shameem Black,2010-01-12 Theorists of Orientalism and postcolonialism argue that novelists betray political and cultural anxieties when characterizing the Other Shameem Black takes a different stance Turning a fresh eye toward several key contemporary novelists she reveals how border crossing fiction represents socially diverse groups without resorting to stereotype idealization or other forms of imaginative constraint Focusing on the work of J M Coetzee Amitav Ghosh Jeffrey Eugenides Ruth Ozeki Charles Johnson Gish Jen and Rupa Bajwa Black introduces an interpretative lens that captures the ways in which these authors envision an ethics of representing social difference They not only offer sympathetic portrayals of the lives of others but also detail the processes of imagining social difference Whether depicting the multilingual worlds of South and Southeast Asia the exportation of American culture abroad or the racial tension of postapartheid South Africa these transcultural representations explore social and political hierarchies in constructive ways Boldly confronting the orthodoxies of recent literary criticism Fiction Across Borders builds upon such seminal works as Edward Said's Orientalism and offers a provocative new study of the late twentieth century novel Poets & Writers, 1996 San Diego Magazine, 1995-03
