The Failure And Collapse Of The African State On The:

Beyond State Failure and Collapse George Klay Kieh, 2007-01-01 There is a general consensus in the scholarly literature that the post colonial state in Africa has failed Some states Liberia Rwanda Sierra Leone Somalia have collapsed Various arguments have been proffered to explain this dynamics of African state failure and collapse However the literature on state reconstitution is inchoate and minimal This edited volume focuses on prescriptions for reconstituting the post colonial state in Africa Essays on nine African states Burundi the Democratic Republic of the Congo Ethiopia Kenya Nigeria Sierra Leone Somalia South Africa and Uganda are preceded by an introduction to the political economy of the African state

State Failure in Sub-Saharan Africa Catherine Scott, 2017-06-30 How should failed states in Africa be understood Catherine Scott here critically engages with the concept of state failure and provides an historical reinterpretation She shows that although the concept emerged in the context of the post Cold War new world order the phenomenon has been attendant throughout and even before the development of the Westphalian state system Contemporary failed states however differ from their historical counterparts in one fundamental respect they fail within their existing borders and continue to be recognised as something that they are not This peculiarity derives from international norms instituted in the era of decolonisation which resulted in the inviolability of state borders and the supposed universality of statehood Scott argues that contemporary failed states are in fact failed post colonies Thus understood state failure is less the failure of existing states and more the failed rooting and institutionalisation of imported and reified models of Western statehood Drawing on insights from the histories of Uganda and Burundi from pre colonial polity formation to the present day she explores why and how there have been failures to create effective and legitimate national states within the bounds of inherited colonial jurisdictions on much of the African continent

Uniting Africa David J. Francis, 2017-05-15 Plagued by bloody wars and armed conflicts political instability communal violence and displaced persons and at the mercy of natural catastrophes such as drought and famine it is not surprising that the Western press has long dismissed Africa as the hopeless continent In the face of these challenges Africa today is faced with a stark choice either unite or perish The debate on why and how the continent should unite in terms of cooperative peace security and development is more urgent than at any other time in Africa s post colonial history Moving forward from the failure of the earlier typically idealistic Africa unity project David Francis demonstrates how peace and security challenges have created the imperative for change He argues that a series of regional peace and security systems are emerging and that states that have participated in practical experiments in regional peacekeeping peace support operations conflict stabilization management and preventive diplomacy are building de facto systems of peace and security that could be institutionalized and extended

African Refugees Toyin Falola, Olajumoke Yacob-Haliso, 2023-01-03 African Refugees is a comprehensive overview of the context causes and consequences of refugee lives discussing issues policies and solutions for African refugees around the world It covers overarching topics such as human rights policy frameworks refugee protection and durable solutions as well as less studied topics such as refugee youths refugee camps LGBTQ refugees urban refugees and refugee women It also takes on rare but emergent topics such as citizenship and the creativity of African refugees Toyin Falola and Olajumoke Jacob Haliso showcase the voices and experiences of individual refugees through the sweep of history to tell the African refugee story from the historical past through current developments covering the full range of experience from the causes of flight to living in exile all while maintaining a persistent focus on the complicated search for solutions African Refugees recognizes African agency and contributions in pursuit of solutions for African refugees over time but avoids the pitfalls of the colonial gaze where refugees are perpetually pathologized and Africa is always the sole cause of its own problems seeking to complicate these narratives by recognizing African refugee issues within exploitative global colonial and neo colonial systems of power

Failed and Failing States Muna Ndulo, Margaret Grieco, 2010 State collapse is one of the major threats to peace stability and economic development in Sub Sahara Africa today In a collapsed state the regime finally wears out its ability to satisfy the demands of the various groups in society fails to govern and to keep the state together The collapse is marked by the loss of control over political and economic space A collapsed state can no longer perform its basic security and development functions and has no effective control over its territory and borders Major challenges confront efforts to avoid collapsed states drawing other countries into a wider conflict and to create structures and favorable conditions to lead to national reconciliation and the reconstruction of a state that has collapsed The Cornell Institute for African Development called a symposium entitled Failed and failing states in Africa lessons from Darfur and beyond to address these critical issues at the Institute for African Development Cornell University April 18 19 2008 Key contributions at the symposium are brought together in this volume Taken together these essays represent a significant discussion on the challenges presented by the presence of failed and failing states within Africa

Post-War Regimes and State Reconstruction in Liberia and Sierra Leone Amadu Sesay, Charles Ukeje, 2009-10-15 The shocks of the unexpected outbreak of violent internal armed conflicts in post Cold War West Africa continue to linger in policy and academic circles While considerable attention is devoted to explaining the civil wars there is little understanding of the delicate and unpredictable processes of reconstruction Post war reconstruction programmes in Africa have become by and large externally driven processes and while externalisation may not be negative per se it is important to interrogate how such intervention recognises and interacts with local dynamics and how it manipulates and conditions the outcomes of post conflict reconstruction agenda Investigating the interface between power elite the nature of post war regimes and the pattern which post war reconstruction takes is important both for theory and practice This original study by some of West Africa s leading scholars interrogates post war reconstruction processes in the twin West African countries of Liberia and Sierra Leone focusing on the effects of regime types on the nature scope success or failure of their post war reconstruction efforts Political scientists diplomats the international community donor and humanitarian agencies advocacy groups the

Notion of the State in Contemporary Africa, 2006

To what Extent Can State Failure be Explained by Patterns of Political Behavior Within Developing States? Florian Meyer, 2010-06 Essay from the year 2010 in the subject Politics International Politics Region Africa grade 1 University of Birmingham International Development Department course Development Politics language English abstract

The analysis of state failure and state collapse has gained widespread academic interest over the last years and combines various academic disciplines related to the reasons of non functioning states and the variables which lead to state failure This essay will try to contribute to the actual debate by examining to what extent patterns of political behavior can be used to explain state failure within developing states and more particular state collapse in Somalia Therefore this essay will first discuss theoretical approaches trying to explain state failure and the differences between state failure and state collapse I will argue that the complexity of state failure and state collapse leads to an ongoing debate about the nature and perception of these states which is often misleading Whereas the dominant factors which cause state failure are often found in bad governance and bad leadership other factors such as the role of external patterns of political behavior during colonial times as well as during the cold war fostered weak state structures and enabled African rulers to develop a different understanding of the state as a tool for personal ends that lead to a logic of self destructive despotism prior to state collapse In a second step the article examines the case of Somalia in further detail trying to analyze causes of state collapse and the impact of political behavior that led to state failure within the Somali context I will argue that on the one hand patterns of political behavior by foreign actors are one main cause of Somali state collapse On the other hand the rule of Siyaad Barre and his patterns of political behavior followed a logic of self destructive despotism which contributed largely to the fact that Somalia col

The State, the Crisis of State Institutions, and Refugee Migration in the Horn of Africa Wondem Asres Degu, 2007

Governance and Crisis in the State in Africa John Emeka Akude, 2009 Governance and Crisis of the State in Africa explores the problems and challenges of disruptive conflicts and conflict management in West Africa Based on a robust analysis of a large stock of theoretical and empirical studies on the nature of the state in Africa and the incidents of state failure fragmentation and collapse the author argues that a major explanation of state weakness in Africa is the lack of the imperatives of good governance itself rooted in the trajectory of the emergence of these states Using the recent internal wars and ongoing conflicts in some West African states such as Liberia Sierra Leone Guinea Guinea Bissau and Cote d Ivoire as case studies the author explains how the use of inappropriate methods of conflict management exacerbates these conflicts and the crisis of the nation state in Africa

John Emeka Akude holds a PhD in political science from the University of Cologne Germany where he teaches African Politics Politics of Development and International Political Economy His research interests include political economy the state and economic development conflict studies state collapse and war economies as well as the transformation of political order His publications include Krisen und Krisenmanagement in Afrika Zwischen Wunschdenken und Ohnmacht Der Anspruch der Afrikanischen Union auf Konfliktmanagement in Afrika Bad Governance and State Collapse in Africa as well as Weak States and Security Threats in West Africa He is a member of the Working Group on the Transformation of Political Order at the Chair of International Relations University of Cologne Germany

Troubled Regions and Failing States Kristian Berg Harpviken, 2010-07-07 Is the phenomenon of state failure better understood through a focus on the regional context To what extent may studies of regional security benefit from a focus on the capacities and vulnerabilities of the states involved This title addresses these questions

Managing African Conflicts Louis Du Plessis, Michael Hough, 2000 In the last years of the twentieth century military interventions by states in the conflicts occurring in other countries dominated television news on Africa Military units from Nigeria or Gambia Ghana or Guinea were patrolling the streets of Monrovia the capital of Liberia Armoured vehicles from South Africa and Botswana lumbered up and down the main streets of Lesotho's capital Maseru Soldiers from Zimbabwe and Angola assisted those from the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC to defend the Congolese capital against rebel insurgents supported by Ugandan Rwandan and Burundian forces Those who observed the camouflaged uniforms and wished to understand something more of these events were inevitably puzzled by many questions Some of these questions were Why are the armed forces of so many African states intervening in the domestic affairs of their neighbours What are these armed forces actually doing on foreign soil Why are so many African conflicts continuing from year to year thereby inevitably inviting and attracting intervention And finally what kinds of theoretical and legal conceptual frameworks will help observers understand the nature of such military interventions

The Failure of Democracy in the Republic of Congo John Frank Clark, 2008 Why did the democratic experiment launched in the Republic of Congo in 1991 fail so dramatically in 1997 Why has it not been seriously resumed since then This book provides an analysis of more than fifteen years of Congolese politics It explores a series of logical hypotheses regarding why democracy failed to take root in Congo

Refugees, the State and the Politics of Asylum in Africa James H. S. Milner,2009-11-06 How can we understand the plight of refugees in Africa Why are refugees now spending an average of 17 years in exile Why have African states required refugees to remain in isolated and insecure camps Is there a better approach to the needs of refugees in Africa This book answers these questions by examining the history and politics of asylum in Africa and the response of key African states to the mass arrival and prolonged presence of refugees By situating the question of refugees within the broader context of African politics the book outlines the broad range of factors that influence the asylum policies of African states Building from these lessons the book outlines the politics of asylum in Africa and proposes a new approach to addressing the needs of the continent's refugees This approach leads to important lessons not only for the study of asylum in Africa but also for the future of refugee protection in Africa
