The Freudian Reading Analytical And Fictional Constructions:

The Freudian Reading Lis Moller, Lis Møller, 2016-11-11 Selected by Choice magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title In The Freudian Reading Lis Møller examines the premises, procedures, and objectives of psychoanalytic reading in order to question the kind of knowledge such readings produce. But above all, she questions the role of Freud as master explicator. Although Freud has been seen as a great synthesizer, Møller contends that his significance as a reader lies elsewhere. For Møller, this significance lies in the way Freud presses his inquiry to the point where he encounters something he cannot explain or that he can only explain at the risk of overthrowing previous conclusions. Such moments of crisis occur repeatedly in Freud's work, causing him to swerve from his original train of thought or even to call into question the theoretical foundation of his interpretation. The dominant line of argument, therefore, is frequently punctuated with problems and questions. If we concentrate on these, Møller argues, we are forced to reconsider the traditional conception of a Freudian reading and to reassess our perceived notions of just what kind of reader Freud was. While The Freudian Reading is based on a wide range of Freud's writings, it concentrates on four central texts: Delusions and Dreams in Jensen's Gradiva, From the History of an Infantile Neurosis, The Uncanny, and Constructions in Analysis. The discussion does not progress chronologically. Rather, it explores the ways in which these texts interact, how they reflect, comment on, and contradict one another. The Freudian Reading is a concentrated, subtle analysis of Freud's interpretive practice, with special reference to his interpretations of literary texts. It will be of interest to scholars and students of literary theory and criticism, as well as to readers in the field of psychoanalysis.

Radicalizing Lawrence Robert Burden, 2021-12-28 In this study of D. H. Lawrence and critical theory, Robert Burden pays particular attention to the critical formations that underpin the reception history of the main novels, including the much maligned leadership novels, because strong readings have always contested the meaning and significance of Lawrence, and because there has been a persistent reluctance to approach his writing through post-structuralist theory. This study demonstrates in some detail that once Lawrence's texts are the objects of the newer critical paradigms, their principles of coherence are understood differently, and that older notions of textual unity are displaced by aesthetic structures of degrees of generic and linguistic destabilization. This enables a radicalizing of Lawrence's fiction by drawing out its deconstructive effects on his myth-making and essentialist notions of the self. The sexual identities represented in the fiction are read as experiments or thought adventures, as Lawrence himself characterized his work. The different approaches to Lawrence's writing in this study lead to a radical reassessment of his relationship to Modernism, especially in the light of the more elastic concept of Modernism in recent discussion, and one which traditional Lawrence scholars have ignored. What emerges is a more self-deconstructive Lawrence, with some surprising results.

Literature in Psychoanalysis Steven Vine, 2017-09-16 This collection of psychoanalytic readings of literary texts and literary readings of psychoanalytic texts has been carefully designed to work as an effective teaching text for introducing students to the complexities of psychoanalytic theory in practice The texts selected are widely studied and map the development of the field from Freud up to the most contemporary work

The Uncanny Nicholas Royle, 2003 This study is of the uncanny an important concept for contemporary thinking and debate across a range of disciplines and discourses including literature film architecture cultural studies philosophy psychoanalysis and queer theory Much of this importance can be traced back to Freud's essay of 1919 The Uncanny Das Unheimliche Where he was perhaps the first to foreground the distinctive nature of the uncanny as a feeling of something not simply weird or mysterious but more specifically as something strangely familiar As a concept and a feeling however the uncanny has a complex history going back to at least the Enlightenment Royle offers a detailed historical account of the emergence of the uncanny together with a series of close readings of different aspects of the topic Following a major introductory historical and critical overview there are chapters on the death drive déjà vu silence solitude and darkness the fear of being buried alive doubles ghosts cannibalism telepathy and madness as well as more applied readings concerned for example with teaching politics film and religion

Rethinking the Uncanny in Hoffman and Tieck Marc Falkenberg, 2005 This stimulating new book challenges Freud's definition of the uncanny prevalent in the study of Gothic and Romantic fiction by reviving the importance of uncertainty in the uncanny Literary criticism views the uncanny as an expression of the return of the repressed Falkenberg's expanded definition includes but is not limited to the psychoanalytic and instead redefines the uncanny as a cognitive and aesthetic phenomenon Beyond offering a survey of what David Punter has called The Theory of the Uncanny this study places the uncanny in the context of the poetological and philosophical background of the Romantic period In close readings of two stories that have stood at the center of the debate about the uncanny E T A Hoffmann's Sandman and Ludwig Tieck's Blond Eckbert the author shows how these texts are constructed as uncanny phenomena in themselves The study traces fairytale elements framing techniques and interdependencies between the fictional productions of the protagonists and their dark fates to expose how these texts confront the reader with paradoxical decoding instructions This expanded and revised uncanny not only yields new readings of two classic German short stories it also leads to a better understanding of the cultural soil that nourished the Romantic Movement

Blasphemy David Lawton, 1993 Blasphemy deals with popular and literary culture religion and racism law social power and international relations Its scope extends from the Old Testament to the fatwa imposed on Salman Rushdie and the Gulf War

The Obligation Toward the Difficult Whole Brian McHale, 2004 A smart eclectic analysis of nine long poems written by postmodernist poets Addressing subjects as wide ranging as angelology the court masque pop art caricature the cult of the ruin hip hop Spenser's Irish policy and the aesthetics of silence Brian McHale pulls varied threads together to identify a repertoire of postmodernist elements characteristic of the long poems he examines As critic Jed Rasula explains McHale is wonderfully resourceful in changing the subject from chapter to chapter to fit the poems discussed and while his approach adheres to the conventions of textual exegesis the chapters really shine as orchestrations of issues For instance James Merrill s The Changing Light at Sandover works unexpectedly well in raising the subject of found poetry and procedural composition Melvin Tolson s Harlem Gallery and Edward Dorn s Gunslinger are effectively paired to demonstrate the period flavor of pastiche Geoffrey Hill s Mercian Hymns and Armand Schwerner s The Tablets explode the modernist fixation with depth John Ashbery s work is given a nuanced reading as proto theory Letter to an Imaginary Friend by Thomas McGrath provides a lucid backdrop to raise the question of political efficacy in approaching language poet Bruce Andrews and Susan Howe s The Europe of Trusts is explored for its intertextual tapestry McHale shows how elements from these long poems overlap interfere pull in different directions jar against and even contradict each other and he demonstrates how they also echo amplify and reinforce each other They do not slot smoothly together like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle but they do form what else a difficult whole

Uncanny Modernity Jo Collins, John Jervis, 2008-04 This title examines and interrogates the concept of the uncanny and the cultural contexts which allow such experiences of disorientation and alienation

Memory, Narrative, Identity Nicola King, 2000 This book explores the complex relationships that exist between memory nostalgia writing and identity

Death and Closure in Biblical Narrative Walter B. Crouch, 2000 Inherent in every story is a view of death that reflects the human struggle of ending well a Freudian thanatos inscribed within narrative As a story draws to a close the view of death found within the structure of the story s narrative will influence the ending that is produced To examine the view of death and the closing strategies employed within a narrative this study proposes a literary category called narrative mortality Narrative mortality compares the degree of finality given to death with the amount of closure the reader experiences within the narrative The narrative mortality of three differing biblical stories are studied within this work The Gospel of John the Book of Job and the Book of Jonah Each story employs a differing rhetorical strategy that reflects its own unique view of death and narrative closure
