Level 3 McDougal-Littell Publishing Staff,2006-05-08 Lecturas Para Hispanohablantes ,2006-06-09 Challenging Neoliberalism in Latin America Eduardo Silva,2009-08-31 At the turn of the twentieth century a concatenation of diverse social movements arose unexpectedly in Latin America culminating in massive anti free market demonstrations These events ushered in governments in Argentina Bolivia Ecuador and Venezuela that advocated socialization and planning challenging the consensus over neoliberal hegemony and the weakness of movements to oppose it Eduardo Silva offers the first comprehensive comparative account of these extraordinary events arguing that the shift was influenced by favorable political associational space a reformist orientation to demands economic crisis and mechanisms that facilitated horizontal linkages among a wide variety of social movement organizations His analysis applies Karl Polanyi s theory of the double movement of market society to these events predicting the dawning of an era more supportive of government intervention in the economy and society Una historia que no debe repetirse ,2000

Human Capital versus Basic Income Fabian A Borges,2022-02-23 Latin America underwent two major transformations during the 2000s the widespread election of left leaning presidents the so called left turn and the diffusion of conditional cash transfer programs CCTs innovative social programs that award regular stipends to poor families on the condition that their children attend school Combining cross national quantitative research covering the entire region and in depth case studies based on field research Human Capital versus Basic Income Ideology and Models for Anti Poverty Programs in Latin America challenges the conventional wisdom that these two transformations were unrelated In this book author Fabi n A Borges demonstrates that this ideology greatly influenced both the adoption and design of CCTs There were two distinct models of CCTs a human capital model based on means tested targeting and strict enforcement of program conditions exemplified by the program launched by Mexico s right and a more universalistic basic income model with more permissive enforcement of conditionality exemplified by Brazil s program under Lula These two models then spread across the region Whereas right and center governments with assistance from international financial institutions enacted CCTs based on the human capital model the left with assistance from Brazil enacted CCTs based on the basic income model The existence of two distinct types of CCTs and their relation to ideology is supported by quantitative analyses covering the entire region and in depth case studies based on field research in three countries Left wing governments operate CCTs that cover more people and spend more on those programs than their center or right wing counterparts Beyond coverage a subsequent analysis of the 10 national programs adopted after Lula's embrace of CCTs confirms that program design evaluated in terms of scope of the target population strictness of conditionality enforcement and stipend structure is shaped by government ideology. This finding is then fleshed out through case studies of the political processes that culminated in the adoption of basic income CCTs by left wing governments in Argentina and Bolivia and a human capital CCT by a centrist president in Costa Rica.

Legislative Institutions and Lawmaking in Latin America Eduardo Alemán, George Tsebelis, 2016-05-27 In this volume twelve experts on Latin American politics investigate the ways in which the interaction between legislative institutions and the policy positions of key actors affects the initiation and passage of legislation covering seven Latin American Countries: Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Peru, and Uruguay. These seven presidential systems vary widely in terms of their legislative institutions and the position of relevant actors. The introduction provides a framework to understand the interaction of legislative majorities, political institutions, and policy position, and each chapter begins with a description of the constitutional and congressional rules that allocate powers to propose, amend, and veto legislation. The authors then identify the political actors who have these prerogatives and apply the framework to show how their policy positions and relative strengths influence legislative decision making. The findings are consistent with the basic argument of the book that presidents with extensive legislative powers may be constrained by the positions of their legislative allies, whereas weaker presidents may be well positioned to build successful coalitions to achieve their legislative goals. The essays in this volume demonstrate that institutional design, which determines the allocation of legislative powers, must be considered along with the policy preferences of key legislative actors in order to construct a full picture of law making. Oxford Studies in Democratization is a series for scholars and students of comparative politics and related disciplines. Volumes concentrate on the comparative study of the democratization process that accompanied the decline and termination of the cold war. The geographical focus of the series is primarily Latin America, the Caribbean, Southern and Eastern Europe, and relevant experiences in Africa and Asia. The series editor is Laurence Whitehead, Senior Research Fellow, Nuffield College, University of Oxford.

Development and Social Policy Christian Aspalter, Kenny Teguh Pribadi, 2016-12-19 In recent years, government and policymakers around the world have shifted their attention away from money-oriented supply-side economics to institutional economics and people-oriented social and economic development. Issues such as poverty reduction, win-win solutions, and strategies in social policy and their implementation, universalization, and a variety of new large-scale conditional cash transfers programs have become ever present in the global discussion about development and social policy This book provides win win strategies for social policies on the ground as developed and put forward by the normative theoretical paradigm of Developmental Social Policy DSP Taking the state of the art general development theory as a starting point of reference and discussion it goes on to discuss in detail the key win win strategies that form the basis and core of the DSP paradigm It examines key related issues such as the performance of provident fund systems the performance of conditional cash transfer systems especially their elements that are based on asset and means testing universalism and extension in social security provision in the context of especially developing countries and non economically targeted social welfare benefits and services Providing fully fledged theoretical guidance paired with key social policy strategies and solutions it will be highly valuable for students and scholars of social policy development studies and Asia Pacific studies European Review of Latin American and Caribbean Studies ,2001 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices ,2007 A First Spanish Book and Reader William Frederic Giese,1902 North-South University Research Partnerships in Latin America and the Caribbean Gustavo Gregorutti,Nanette Svenson,2018-06-06 This volume examines research productivity within schools in Latin America and the Caribbean LAC and presents examples of various successful LAC North South programs which have propelled university research in the region Much of the scholarly work on North South research to date has concentrated principally on joint publications and co authorship bibliometrics In this book cases are explored within the context of study on international research collaborations to highlight the motivations mechanics limitations and success factors involved in the North South relationships and their resulting research output Angolan Political Thought Luis Cordeiro-Rodrigues,2024-02-08 Angolan Political Thought introduces anticolonial thinkers whose writings on colonialism and liberation have been instrumental in the formation of Angolan identity It focuses on the political nature of these thinkers and how their work has impacted Angolan political reality Lu s Cordeiro Rodrigues both introduces and critically analyzes the thought of Queen Njinga M rio Pinto de Andrade Agostinho Neto and Pepetela and systematically addresses five important topics in Angolan political thought Firstly it gives a general introduction to African political philosophy and explains the place of Angolan political thought in this Secondly it explains how different Angolan thinkers have conceptualized colonialism and its effects on the global Black community Thirdly the book surveys what key Angolan thinkers have identified as legitimate and effective tools of liberation and resistance from colonialism For example it addresses the place of poetry for liberation as well as the justification for war against colonial powers Fourth this book will explain the different theories that Africa and in particular African identity consists of Finally it will look at Angolan theories of distributive justice and compensation for historical injustices City of Flowers Susan E. Mannon,2017 City of Flowers is an ethnographic study of social and economic change in Costa Rica Rather than investigate how macroeconomic forces bear down on workers and households this book explores how individuals and households give meaning and shape to neoliberalism as it evolves over time Drawing on twenty years of field work and 100 life histories of people living in one Costa Rican city the book considers how individuals in four different class locations negotiate the economic changes going on around them Author Susan E Mannon argues that these responses are bound up in class race and gender aspirations and anxieties City of Flowers is a volume in the ISSUES OF GLOBALIZATION CASE STUDIES IN CONTEMPORARY ANTHROPOLOGY series which examines the experiences of individual communities in our contemporary world Each volume offers a brief and engaging exploration of a particular issue arising from globalization and its cultural political and economic effects on certain peoples or groups
