Army of None Paul Scharre, 2018-04-24 Winner of the 2019 William E. Colby Award. The book I had been waiting for. I can't recommend it highly enough. Bill Gates: "The era of autonomous weapons has arrived. Today, around the globe, at least thirty nations have weapons that can search for and destroy enemy targets all on their own." Paul Scharre, a leading expert in next-generation warfare, describes these and other high-tech weapons systems, from Israel's Harpy drone to the American submarine-hunting robot ship Sea Hunter, and examines the legal and ethical issues surrounding their use. A smart primer to what's to come in warfare. Bruce Schneier: "Army of None engages military history, global policy, and cutting-edge science to explore the implications of giving weapons the freedom to make life-and-death decisions." A former soldier himself, Scharre argues that we must embrace technology where it can make war more precise and humane, but when the choice is life or death, there is no replacement for the human heart.

Introduction to Radar Target Recognition P. Tait, 2005. This book text provides an overview of the radar target recognition process and covers the key techniques being developed for operational systems. It is based on the fundamental scientific principles of high-resolution radar and explains how the underlying techniques can be used in real systems, taking into account the characteristics of practical radar system designs and component limitations. It also addresses operational aspects such as how high-resolution modes would fit in with other functions such as detection and tracking.

The Effects of Wars Pierre Bocquillon, Suzanne Doyle, Toby S. James, Ra Mason, Soul Park, Matilde Rosina, 2024-12-09. War has been an ever-present feature of human existence. The analysis of wars has tended to focus on either their causes or the military and strategic consequences of a conflict. This book argues that war can have a much wider impact across layers of society that go beyond international boundaries. It presents a heuristic multi-disciplinary framework for analysing the ripple and backwash effects across five connected analytical layers: world material, human capabilities, economic values, belief and attitudes, policy and governance, and power. Through this framework, the book introduces a set of empirically rich and theoretically informed studies which examine the first consequences of the war in Ukraine following the invasion of Russia in February 2022. This multi disciplinary approach shows that the effects of the war were much deeper and sustained This volume will be of interest to students and scholars of international humanitarian law security studies peace and conflict studies and European history The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Policy Studies

Defence Industries in the 21st Century Çağlar Kurç, Richard A. Bitzinger, Stephanie G. Neuman, 2021-05-13 Defence Industries in the 21st Century explores the transformation in the global defence industrial production through examining the interaction between international and domestic factors With the global defence industry and arms market likely continue to expand and mature the ways in which this progression could influence international politics remain obscure In practice as the contents of this book show the defence industrial bases and arms export policies of emerging states display significant variance This variance is the result of a unique balance between domestic and international factors that has shaped the defence industrialisation behaviour and policies of the less industrialised states One of the most important conclusions of the book is that the interplay between domestic and international factors clearly influences the variation in the emerging states defence industrialisation policies as well as their success or failure While international factors create opportunities they also limit the options available to emerging economies Domestic factors also play an important role by shaping the policy choices of the states decision makers Exploring the balance between international and domestic factors and the ways in which they influence defence industrialisation in emerging states Defence Industries in the 21st Century will be of great interest to scholars of Defence Industries Arms Manufacturing and Defence Strategic and Security Studies more generally The chapters were originally published in Defence Studies Comparative Strategy and All Azimuth

Indefensible Paul Holden,2017-02-15 Although there is often opposition to individual wars most people continue to believe that the arms industry is necessary in some form to safeguard our security provide jobs and stimulate the economy

Not only conservatives but many progressives and liberals support it for these reasons Indefensible puts forward a devastating challenge to this conventional wisdom which has normalised the existence of the most savage weapons of mass destruction ever known It is the essential handbook for those who want to debunk the arguments of the industry and its supporters deploying case studies statistics and irrefutable evidence to demonstrate they are fundamentally flawed both factually and logically Far from protecting us the book shows how the arms trade undermines our security by fanning the flames of war terrorism and global instability In countering these myths the book points to ways in which we can combat the arms trade s malignant influence reclaim our democracies and reshape our economies The Ladder Andrew

Daniel W. Drezner, Henry Farrell, Abraham L. Newman, 2021-03-02 How globalized information networks can be used for strategic advantage Until recently globalization was viewed on balance as an inherently good thing that would benefit people and societies nearly everywhere Now there is growing concern that some countries will use their position in globalized networks to gain undue influence over other societies through their dominance of information and financial networks a concept known as weaponized interdependence In exploring the conditions under which China Russia and the United States might be expected to weaponize control of information and manipulate the global economy the contributors to this volume challenge scholars and practitioners to think differently about foreign economic policy national security and statecraft for the twenty first century The book addresses such questions as What areas of the global economy are most vulnerable to unilateral control of information and financial networks How sustainable is the use of weaponized interdependence What are the possible responses from targeted actors And how sustainable is the open global economy if weaponized interdependence becomes a default tool for managing international relations
