

Module 4 – Physical Fitness Tests

In this lesson, you will be able to determine your current level of fitness. Through the different physical fitness tests, you will discover which fitness components your body is lacking in. Knowing about your weaknesses, you will know where you focus your training on the right or wrong through the tests, as well as what to do.

In this and in this module, you will be able to:

1. describe the different tests that can be performed for each health-related fitness component;
2. determine which fitness component your body needs improvement on;
3. discover your current physical fitness level through specific fitness-related fitness tests performed;
4. determine which fitness component you need to improve through the different tests and health-related fitness components available; the different activities that improve each fitness component;
5. perform the physical fitness tests efficiently and accurately; properly interpret and explain test results;
6. recognize and understand the testing results and what to improve on;
7. compare your fitness level to personal health-related standards and to physical fitness standards.

Within this module, you will be provided with activities that specifically target each health-related fitness component. These activities will allow you to see through the health-related fitness components the right correct fitness activities.

Physical Fitness Tests
