Annotations to William Faulkner's 'The Hamlet' Catherine D. Holmes,2017-10-23 The annotations in this volume originally published in 1996 intend to assist the reader of Faulkner s The Hamlet to understand obscure or difficult words and passages including literary allusions dialect and historical events that Faulkner uses or alludes to This title will be of great interest to students of literature The Pleasures and Horrors of Eating Marion Gymnich,Norbert Lennartz,2010 Browsing through books and TV channels we find people pre occupied with eating cooking and competing with chefs Eating and food in today s media have become a form of entertainment and art A survey of literary history and culture shows to what extent eating used to be closely related to all areas of human life to religion eroticism and even to death In this volume early modern ideas of feasting banqueting and culinary pleasures are juxtaposed with post 18th and 19th century concepts in which the intake of food is increasingly subjected to moral theological and economic reservations In a wide range of essays various images rhetorics and poetics of plenty are not only contrasted with the horrors of gluttony they are also seen in the context of modern phenomena such as the anorexic body or the gourmandizing b te humaine It is this vexing binary approach to eating and food which this volume traces within a wide chronological framework and which is at the core not only of literature art and film but also of a flourishing popular culture Reading Romans with Roman Eyes James R. Harrison,2020-06-22 Paul s letter to the Romans has a long history in Christian dogmatic battles But how might the letter have been heard by an audience in Neronian Rome James R Harrison answers that question through a reader response approach grounded in deep investigations of the material and ideological culture of the city from Augustus to Nero. Inscriptional archaeological monumental and numismatic evidence in addition to a breadth of literary material allows him to describe the ideological value system of the Julio Claudian world which would have shaped the perceptions and expectations of Paul's readers. Throughout Harrison sets prominent Pauline themes: his obligation to Greeks and barbarians, newness of life and of creation against the power of death, the body of Christ boasting in glory and God's purpose in and for Israel in startling juxtaposition with Roman ideological themes. The result is a richer and more complex understanding of the letter's argument and its possible significance for contemporary readers.

Remapping Reality John A. McCarthy, 2006-01-01. This book is about intersections among science, philosophy and literature. It bridges the gap between the traditional cultures of science and the humanities by constituting an area of interaction that some have called a third culture. By asking questions about three disciplines rather than about just two as is customary in research, this inquiry breaks new ground and resists easy categorization. It seeks to answer the following questions: What impact has the remapping of reality in scientific terms since the Copernican Revolution through thermodynamics, relativity theory and quantum mechanics had on the way writers and thinkers conceptualized the place of human culture within the total economy of existence? What influence on the other hand have writers and philosophers had on the doing of science and on scientific paradigms of the world? Thirdly, where does humankind fit into the total picture with its uniquely moral nature? In other words, rather than privileging one discipline over another, this study seeks to uncover a common ground for science, ethics and literary creativity. Throughout this inquiry, certain nodal points emerge to bond the argument cogently together and create new meaning. These anchor points are the notion of movement inherent in all forms of existence, the changing concepts of evil in the altered spaces of reality and the creative impulse critical to the literary work of art as well as to the expanding universe. This ambitious undertaking is unified through its use of phenomena typical of chaos and complexity theory as so many leitmotifs. While they first emerged to explain natural phenomena at the quantum and cosmic levels, chaos and complexity are equally apt for explaining moral and aesthetic events. Hence the title Remapping Reality extends to the reconfigurations of the three main spheres of human interaction: the physical, the ethical and the aesthetic or creative.

Mysterious Minds Elise Nykänen,2017-11-22 This study examines the narrative tools techniques and structures that Marja Liisa Vartio a classic of Finnish post war modernism used in presenting fictional minds in her narrative prose The study contributes to the academic discussion on formal and thematic conventions of modernism by addressing the ways in which fictional minds work in interaction and in relation to the enfolding fictional world The epistemic problem of how accurately the world the self and the other can be known is approached by analyzing two co operating ways of portraying fictional minds both from external and internal perspectives The external perspective relies on detachment and emotional restraint dominating in Vartio s early novels Se on sitten kevät and Mies kuin mies tyttö kuin tyttö The internal perspective pertains to the mental processes of self reflection speculation and excessive imagining that gain more importance in her later novels Kaikki naiset on kevät uniat Tunteet and Hän oli linnut In the theoretical chapter of this study fictional minds are discussed in the context of the acclaimed inward turn of modernist fiction by suggesting alternative methods for reading modernist minds as embodied emotional and social entities In respect to fictional minds interaction this study elaborates on the ideas of mind reading intersubjectivity and the social mind established within post classical cognitive narratology Furthermore it employs possible world poetics when addressing the complexity incompleteness and inaccessibility of Vartio's epistemic worlds including the characters private worlds of knowledge beliefs emotions hallucinations and dreams In regards to the emotional emplotment of fictional worlds this study also benefits from affective narratology as well as the plot theory being influenced by possible world semantics narrative dynamics and cognitive narratology As the five analysis chapters of this study show fictional minds in Vartio's fiction are not only introspective solipsist and streaming but also embodied and social entities In the readings of the primary texts the concept of embodiedness is used to examine the situated presence of an experiencing mind within the time and space of the storyworld Fictional minds interactions are also demonstrated as evolving from local experientiality to long term calculations that turn emotional incidents into episodes and episodes into stories In Vartio's novels the emotional story structure of certain conventional story patterns such as the narratives of female development and the romance plot the sentimental novel and epistolary fiction are modified and causally altered in the portrayal of the embodied interactions between the self the other and the world The trajectories of female self discovery in Vartio's novels are analyzed through the emotional responses of characters their experiences of randomness their ways of counterfactualizing their traumatic past their procrastinatory or akratic reactions or indecisiveness The gradual move away from the percepts of the external world to the excessive imaginings and misreadings of other minds triggered by the interaction of worlds and minds challenges the contemporary and more recent accounts of modernism both in Finnish and international contexts

Robert J. Higgs, Ralph L. Turner, 1999-10-30 Analyzing a sample of 25 films including such notables as Red River Shane Unforgiven The Wild Bunch Wyatt Earp and Dances with Wolves this work examines traditional leadership theories as reflected in the western film genre The western vividly portrays a variety of leadership styles motifs and characteristics giving perspective on several traditional leadership theories The different leadership styles the films exhibit are categorized and described through content analysis Some of the concepts and underlying theories and styles reveal a universal quality about leadership that transcends theoretical research As a cultural study that traces the relative popularity of leadership styles this work provides new insight toward studying leadership effectiveness Through the lens of leadership theory this unique look at the western films from 1945 to 1995 and the American culture they depict will appeal not only to leadership film and popular culture scholars but to leaders in business government and the military Chapters group films by their

Heroes and States J. Douglas Canfield, 2021-12-14 To understand the cultural history of England during the Restoration one need look no further than the theater which was attended by the gentry as well as by members of the middle and lower classes The theater of this period embodied the values meanings and power relations of Restoration England In Heroes and States Douglas Canfield argues that drama not only represents but actually helps constitute the value and belief systems of an entire culture Heroes and States completes Canfield's two volume cultural history of Restoration drama begun in Tricksters and Estates On the Ideology of Restoration Comedy In this second volume Canfield shows how Restoration playwrights attempted to reinscribe late feudal aristocratic ideology after the English Civil War In the serious drama of the period conflict is between noble heroes upon whom states are built and transgressors of the established order tyrants traitors usurpers rapists and atheists Canfield considers several sub genres of tragedy He argues that most of these sub genres reaffirm the older ideology after testing it in the fires of conflict Tragical satire on the other hand the most subversive of these sub genres exposes the failure of the ruling class to live up to its own codes and in some cases the absurdity of the codes themselves Canfield also finds playwrights struggling with issues of race and colonialism He uses the work of modern theorists such as Bakhtin Girard Kristeva Derrida Althusser Williams and Eagleton to illuminate aspects of his inquiries Restoration tragedy stands on the cusp of a cultural transition from a late feudal to an early bourgeois ideology and the issues and themes addressed in the theater validate the culture and politics of seventeenth century England
