South Asian cities stand in relationship to the nation and conversely how might South Asians in diaspora construct these cities within larger narratives of development globalization or as sources of authentic ethnic identities How is the very skeleton the space the territory of South Asian cities marked with and by exclusionary politics How do the aesthetic and formal choices undertaken by writers determine the potential for and limit to emancipation of urban outcasts from their oppressive circumstances Considering fiction nonfiction comics and genre fiction from India Pakistan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka literature from the twentieth and the twenty first century and works that are Anglophone and those that are in translation this book will be valuable to a range of disciplines

Fiction as History

Vasudha Dalmia,2019-08-01 Explains the Hindi novel s role in anticipating and creating the story of middle class modernity and modernization in North India Vasudha Dalmia offers a panoramic view of the intellectual and cultural life of North India over a century from the aftermath of the 1857 uprising to the end of the Nehruvian era The North's historical cities rooted in an Indo-Persianate culture began changing more slowly than the Presidency towns founded by the British Dalmia takes up eight canonical Hindi novels set in six of these cities Agra Allahabad Banaras Delhi Lahore and Lucknow to trace a literary history of domestic and political cataclysms Her exploration of the emerging Hindu middle classes changing personal and professional ambitions and new notions of married life provides a vivid sense of urban modernity She argues that the radical social transformations associated with post 1857 urban restructuring and the political flux resulting from social reform Gandhian nationalism communalism Partition and the Cold War shaped the realm of the intimate as much as the public sphere Love and friendship notions of privacy attitudes to women's work and relationships within households are among the book's major themes Transcultural Memory and Globalised Modernity in Contemporary Indo-English Novels Nadia Butt, 2015-09-14 This book places transcultural memory in the South Asian cultural and literary context Divided into two parts the book first defines transcultural memory in the age of globalised modernity both as a theory and social practice Then it examines contemporary Indo-English novels from India and Pakistan with the theoretical and methodological tool of transcultural memory to shed new light on the connection between memory and modernity and memory and South Asian cultures in the wake of new social and political transformations on the Indian subcontinent A special focus on commemorative tropes in the novels not only show the possibility of a dialogue with different versions of the past but also how such a dialogue shapes processes of remembrance between and beyond borders Hence the book comes up with alternative ways of reading the Indo-English novels divesting the concept of trans-cultural memory from its Euro-centrism and claiming it as equally significant in comprehending the new configurations of memory and modernity in non-Western locations

Colonial Lahore Ian Talbot, Tahir Kamran, 2022-02-15 A number of studies of colonial Lahore in recent years have explored such themes as the city's modernity its cosmopolitanism and the rise of communalism which culminated in the bloodletting of 1947 This first synoptic history moves away from the prism of the Great Divide of 1947 to examine the cultural and social connections which linked colonial Lahore with North India and beyond In contrast to portrayals of Lahore as inward looking and a world unto itself the authors argue that imperial globalisation intensified long established exchanges of goods people and ideas Ian Talbot and Tahir Kamran's book is reflective of concerns arising from the global history of Empire and the new urban history of South Asia These are addressed thematically rather than through a conventional chronological narrative as the book uncovers previously neglected areas of Lahore's history including the links between Lahore's and Bombay's early film industries and the impact on the tourist gaze of the consumption of both text and visual representation of India in newsreels and photographs

Gender, Sexuality and Feminism in Pakistani Urdu Writing Amina Yaqin, 2022-03-08 In this book the author critically interrogates the construction of gender community and nation in the work of progressive women poets The book combines the study of nation and community through a close engagement with Urdu literary culture in the twentieth century and particularly the work of pioneering literary women It argues that gender and sexuality become fixed signifiers in the trauma of partition and the formation of the post partition Islamic nation The story of literary women in Pakistan taking up the mantle of public poets thus has to be understood in relation to the history of reform anti colonial resistance and a transnational Islamicate culture The book examines the presence of feminist thought in the work of progressive women poets charting their interrogation of the clash between secular and sacred values and the increasing split between liberal and Islamic nationalism The book suggests that through their writing and experiences women have negotiated sacred and secular spaces to move beyond a community that is subservient to nationalist ideology

Radio for the Millions Isabel Huacuja Alonso, 2023-01-03 Co winner 2023 AIPS Book Prize American Institute of Pakistan Studies Finalist 2023 Richard Wall Memorial Award Theatre Library Association From news about World War II to the broadcasting of music from popular

movies radio played a crucial role in an increasingly divided South Asia for more than half a century Radio for the Millions examines the history of Hindi Urdu radio during the height of its popularity from the 1930s to the 1980s showing how it created transnational communities of listeners Isabel Huacuja Alonso argues that despite British Indian and Pakistani politicians efforts to usurp the medium for state purposes radio largely escaped their grasp She demonstrates that the medium enabled listeners and broadcasters to resist the cultural linguistic and political agendas of the British colonial administration and the subsequent independent Indian and Pakistani governments Rather than being merely a tool of nation building in South Asia radio created affective links that defied state agendas policies and borders It forged an enduring transnational soundscape even after the 1947 Partition had made a united India a political impossibility Huacuja Alonso traces how people engaged with radio across news music and drama broadcasts arguing for a more expansive definition of what it means to listen She develops the concept of radio resonance to understand how radio relied on circuits of oral communication such as rumor and gossip and to account for the affective bonds this talk created By analyzing Hindi film song radio programs she demonstrates how radio spurred new ways of listening to cinema Drawing on a rich collection of sources including newly recovered recordings listeners letters to radio stations original interviews with broadcasters and archival documents from across three continents Radio for the Millions rethinks assumptions about how the medium connects with audiences

Rushdie Affair Flora's Empire Eugenia W. Herbert, 2012-01-31 Like their penchant for clubs cricket and hunting the planting of English gardens by the British in India reflected an understandable need on the part of expatriates to replicate home as much as possible in an alien environment In Flora's Empire Eugenia W Herbert argues that more than simple nostalgia or homesickness lay at the root of this garden imperialism however Drawing on a wealth of period illustrations and personal accounts many of them little known she traces the significance of gardens in the long history of British relations with the subcontinent To British eyes she demonstrates India was an untamed land that needed the visible stamp of civilization that gardens in their many guises could convey Colonial gardens changed over time from the garden houses of eighteenth century nabobs modeled on English country estates to the herbaceous borders gravel walks and well trimmed lawns of Victorian civil servants As the British extended their rule they found that hill stations like Simla offered an ideal retreat from the unbearable heat of the plains and a place to coax English flowers into bloom Furthermore India was part of the global network of botanical exploration and collecting that gathered up the world's plants for transport to great imperial centers such as Kew And it is through colonial gardens that one may track the evolution of imperial ideas of governance Every Government House and Residency was carefully landscaped to reflect current ideals of an ordered society At Independence in 1947 the British left behind a lasting legacy in their gardens one still reflected in the design of parks and information technology campuses and in the horticultural practices of home gardeners who continue to send away to England for seeds
