Writing Home Elmer Kennedy-Andrews, 2008 The idea of place and of being displaced is a powerful leit motif in Northern Irish poetry It is here explored in depth from the 1960s to the present day Ideas of home place and identity have been continually questioned re imagined and re constructed in Northern Irish poetry Concentrating on the period since the outbreak of the Troubles in the late 1960s this study provides a detailed consideration of the work of several generations of poets from Hewitt and MacNeice to Fiacca and Montague to Simmons Heaney Mahon and Longley to Muldoon Carson Paulin and McGuckian to McDonald Morrissey Gillis and Flynn It traces the extent to which their writing represents a move away from concepts of rootedness and towards a deterritorialized poetics of displacement mobility openness and pluralism in an era of accelerating migration and globalisation In the new readings of place inherited maps are no longer reliable and home is no longer the stable ground of identity but seems instead to be always where it is not The crossing of boundaries and the experience of diaspora open up new understandings of the relations between places a new sense of the permeability and contingency of cultures and new concepts of identity and home

The Country in the City Richard A. Walker, 2009-11-23 Winner of the Western History Association's 2009 Hal K Rothman Award Finalist in the Western Writers of America Spur Award for the Western Nonfiction Contemporary category 2008 The San Francisco Bay Area is one of the world's most beautiful cities Despite a population of 7 million people it is more greensward than asphalt jungle more open space than hardscape A vast quilt of countryside is tucked into the folds of the metropolis stitched from fields farms and woodlands mines creeks and wetlands In The Country in the City Richard Walker tells the story of how the jigsaw geography of this greenbelt has been set into place The Bay Area's civic landscape has been fought over acre by acre an arduous process requiring popular mobilization political will and hard work Its most cherished environments Mount Tamalpais Napa Valley San Francisco Bay Point Reyes Mount Diablo the Pacific coast have engendered some of the fiercest environmental battles in the country and have made the region a leader in green ideas and organizations This book tells how the Bay Area got its green grove from the stirrings of conservation in the time of John Muir to origins of the recreational parks and coastal preserves in the early twentieth century from the fight to stop bay fill and control suburban growth after the Second World War to securing conservation easements and stopping toxic pollution in our times Here modern environmentalism first became a mass political movement in the 1960s with the sudden blooming of the Sierra Club and Save the Bay and it remains a global center of environmentalism to this day Green values have been a pillar of Bay Area life and politics for more than a century It is an environmentalism grounded in local places and personal concerns close to the heart of the city Yet this vision of what a city should be has always been informed by liberal even utopian ideas of nature planning government and democracy In the end green is one of the primary colors in the flag of the Left Coast where green enthusiasms like open space are built into the fabric of urban life Written in a lively and accessible style The Country in the City will be of interest to general readers and environmental activists At the same time it speaks to fundamental debates in environmental history urban planning and geography

Food Between the Country and the City Nuno Domingos, José Manuel Sobral, Harry G. West, 2014-03-27 At a time when the relationship between the country and the city is in flux worldwide the value and meanings of food associated with both places continue to be debated Building upon the foundation of Raymond Williams classic work The Country and the City this volume examines how conceptions of the country and the city invoked in relation to food not only reflect their changing relationship but have also been used to alter the very dynamics through which countryside and cities and the food grown and eaten within them are produced and sustained. Leading scholars in the study of food offer ethnographic studies of peasant homesteads, family farms, community gardens, state food industries, transnational supermarkets, planning offices, tourist boards, and government ministries in locales across the globe. This fascinating collection provides vital new insight into the contested dynamics of food and will be key reading for upper level students and scholars of food studies, anthropology, history, and geography.

Modern Criticism and Theory Nigel Wood, David Lodge, 2014-06-11 This third edition of Modern Criticism and Theory represents a major expansion on its previous incarnations with some twenty five new pieces or essays included. This expansion has two principal purposes. Firstly, in keeping with the collection's aim to reflect contemporary preoccupations, the reader has expanded forward to include such newly emergent considerations as ecocriticism and post theory. Secondly, with the aim of presenting as broad an account of modern theory as possible, the reader expands backwards to take in exemplary pieces by formative writers and thinkers of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries such as Marx, Freud, and Virginia Woolf. This radical expansion of content is prefaced by a wide ranging introduction which provides a rationale for the collection and demonstrates how connections can be made between competing theories and critical schools. The purpose of the collection remains that of introducing the reader to the guiding concepts of contemporary literary and cultural debate. It does so by presenting substantial extracts from seminal thinkers and surrounding them with the contextual materials necessary to a full understanding. Each selection has a headnote which gives biographical details of the author and provides suggestions for further reading, and footnotes that help explain difficult references. The collection is ordered both historically and thematically, and readers are encouraged to draw for themselves connections between essays and theories. Modern Criticism and Theory has long been regarded as a necessary collection. Now revised for the twenty first century, it goes further and provides students and the general reader with a wide ranging survey of the complex landscape of modern theory and a critical assessment of the way we think and live in the world today. We Share Walls Katherine E.

Hoffman, 2008-04-15 We Share Walls: Language, Land, and Gender in Berber Morocco explores how political, economic shifts over the last century have reshaped the language practices and ideologies of women and men in the plains and mountains of rural Morocco. Offers a unique and richly textured ethnography of language maintenance and shift as well as language and place making among an overlooked Muslim group. Examines how Moroccan Berbers use language to integrate into the Arab speaking world and retain their own distinct identity. Illuminates the intriguing semiotic and gender issues embedded in the culture. Part of the Blackwell Studies in Discourse and Culture Series. The Life and Times of Post-Modernity Keith Tester, 2002-11-01 Postmodernity is often claimed as a great transformation in society and culture. But is it? In this book, Keith Tester casts a cautious eye on such grandiose claims. Tester draws on a series of themes and stories from European sociology and literature to show that many of the great statements from postmodernity are misplaced Postmodernity is not the harbinger or expression of a new world It is a reflection of the unresolved paradoxes and possibilities of modernity The author establishes a clearly expressed and stimulating model of modernity to demonstrate the stakes and consequences of postmodernity This book uses a wealth of sources which are usually denigrated or ignored in the debates on postmodernity As such it sheds new light on old claims But it never fails to acknowledge the profound insights of sociologists and other authors The Life and Times of Post Modernity is a continuation of the themes which Tester raised in his earlier books with Routledge The Two Sovereigns and Civil Society Where We Live Now Matthew Stadler, 2008 The point of departure for this collection is a translation of excerpts from Zwischenstadt by Thomas Sieverts Beirut, Imagining the City Ghenna Hayek, 2014-10-29 Beirut is the cultural commercial and economic hub of Lebanon But to what extent has the city affected and shaped the formation and perceptions of Lebanese national identity Ghenna Hayek here explores how anxieties over the past present and future of Beirut have been articulated through a sense of dislocation present in Lebanese writing since the 1960s Drawing on theories of cultural studies geography and history the author uses an interdisciplinary framework to explore the role that spaces from rural to urban have played and continue to play in the defining and re defining of national identity in the seventy years since the creation of the Lebanese nation state This theoretical perspective coupled with a close reading of little explored contemporary writings lead Hayek to question the predominant assumption that Lebanese novelists only became engaged in discourses about place identity and individual and social belonging with the start of the fifteen year civil war and the destruction of Beirut's city centre Instead the book shows that particular geographical imaginaries have been mobilized to describe question and debate Lebanese identity since the 1960s and that some go back even further into the late nineteenth century This re reading calls for a re evaluation of some of the most predominant assumptions about Lebanon and the processes of Lebanese identity formation across the country's modern history Examining a wide range of modern and contemporary literature Hayek charts the rise to cultural prominence of the city of Beirut as a significant player in shaping perceptions of Lebanese culture and identity Literary Tourism and the British Isles LuAnn McCracken Fletcher, 2018-12-10 An interdisciplinary exploration of literary tourism's role in shaping how locations in the British and Irish Isles have been seen narrated and valued Charlotte Riddell's City Novels and Victorian Business Silvana Colella, 2016-03-22 In spite of the popularity she enjoyed during her lifetime Charlotte Riddell 1832-1906 has received little attention from scholars Silvana Colella makes a strong case for the relevance of Riddell's novels as narrative experiments that shed new light on the troubled experience of Victorian capitalism Drawing on her impressive knowledge of commerce and finance Riddell produced several novels that narrate the fate of individuals manufacturers accountants entrepreneurs City men and their female companions who pursue the liberal dream of self determination in the unstable world of London business Colella situates novels such as Too Much Alone George Geith The Race for Wealth Austin Friars and The Senior

Partner in the broader cultural context examining business manuals commercial biographies and essays to highlight Victorian constructions of the business ideal and the changing cultural status of the City of London Combining historicist and formalist readings Colella charts the progression of Riddell's imaginative commitment to the business world focusing on the author's gendered awareness of the promises and disenchantments associated with the changing dynamics of capitalist modernisation Her book enriches our understanding of Victorian business culture the literary history of capitalism and the intersections of gender genre and economics

The Anxious City Richard J. Williams, 2004 A unique and provocative history of the development of the idea of the city in recent years Key public spaces and buildings in England Europe and the USA are discussed in relation to their socio political context

Ends of the Global City Rashmi Varma, Jini Kim Watson, 2025-04-23 This volume of essays explores how the global city is confronting new forms of crises and disruption Examining cities in the Caribbean North America Africa the Persian Gulf Asia and Australia the essays use literary and cultural analysis to examine the pasts present and futures of the global city Ranging from the period of high postcolonial development industrialization and compacted modernization to present day neoliberal urban planning the collection considers arrivals and departures in the global city offering new critical vocabularies to analyse ongoing processes of migration economic immiseration and environmental collapse

The Postcolonial City and Its Subjects Rashmi Varma, 2011-08-05 This book considers twentieth and twenty first century literary and cultural formations of the postcolonial city and the constitution of new subjects within it Varma offers a reading of both historical and contemporary debates on urbanism through the filter of postcolonial fictions and the cultural fields surrounding and containing them In particular she presents a representational history of London Nairobi and Bombay in the twentieth and twenty first centuries and engages three key theoretical frameworks the city within postcolonial theory and culture its troubled salience in the construction of postcolonial public spheres and identities from local rural ethnic tribal and regional to national cosmopolitan and transnational subjects and spaces postcolonial fictions as constituting a new world literary space and as a site of the articulation of contending narratives of urban space global culture and postcolonial development and postcolonial feminist citizenship as a universal political project challenging current neo liberal and post neo liberal contractions and eviscerations of public spaces and rights

Reclaiming Modernity Larry Bennett, 2025-02-25 Why do we seek to return to the past or rescue pieces of the past that may have value in the present Why does nostalgia attach to an approach to the world social rules and material products that willfully rejected the past Larry Bennett explores the complexities of nostalgia with considerations of the historic preservation of brutalist architecture specifically Bertrand Goldberg's Prentice Women's Hospital in Chicago the memoirs and recollections of early and mid twentieth century Brooklyn and Detroit and the turntable's rebirth as a musical instrument alongside the vinyl LP's resurgence as a prized way of consuming music Bennett tracks modernity as expressed through ideas artistic products and widespread social practices His consideration of nostalgia focuses on our inclination to rediscover value in people places and social habits diminished by the passage of time Provocative and multidisciplinary Reclaiming Modernity delves into the paradox of how we feel nostalgia for ideas and times that emerged from an impulse to shun nostalgia Envisioning Taiwan June Yip, 2004-10-07 Traces the growth and evolution of a Taiwan's sense of itself as a separate and distinct entity by examining the diverse ways a discourse of nation has been produced in the Taiwanese cultural imagination
