contents and rigorous research methodologies to some important challenges the brand management has to face in the current competitive contexts characterized by the dominance of the intangible resources and the new information and communication technologies Written by leading academics this book is dedicated not only to marketing and management scholars but also to students wanting to investigate the knowledge concerning special fields and special brand management themes As well to the practitioners who can find a wide reference also to the managerial implication from the strategic and operative perspectives Nigerian Journal of Accounting Research ,2009

Industry and Individuals: Branding, Labelling, and Marketing of Food Products Daniel Adrian Gardan,Paweł Bryła,Ionel Dumitru,Iuliana Petronela Gardan,2025-02-10 There is a growing interest in understanding the multifaceted factors that influence individuals food and dietary behaviors and purchasing choices These include psychological cultural economic and social factors However there is a need to delve deeper into the role of food and beverage companies industries and multinational corporations in shaping individuals dietary decisions and purchasing behaviors Despite ever increasing reliance on industry for providing fast convenient and affordable food limited research exists that holistically synthesizes the influence of strategies employed by food companies on the intricate landscape of food consumption and purchasing More and more food companies and industries battle for consumer attention in a world pushing for healthfulness and environmental and ethical sustainability With individuals facing an increasingly diverse range of food options and marketing strategies understanding the factors that guide their choices is critical for both businesses and policymakers It is therefore crucial for us to understand the understanding usage and consumer perception of food labels including front of pack nutrition information and health claims and other aspects of food packaging design e g material colour usage branding For example there is an increased need to understand factors that may influence consumer perception around certain brand identities in the context of boycotting and fear of green washing Multisensory Flavor Perception Betina Piqueras-Fiszman,Charles Spence,2016-04-14 Multisensory Flavor Perception From Fundamental Neuroscience Through to the Marketplace provides state of the art coverage of the latest insights from the rapidly expanding world of multisensory flavor research The book highlights the various types of crossmodal interactions such as sound and taste and vision and taste showing their impact on sensory and hedonic perception along with their consumption in the context of food and drink The chapters in this edited volume review the existing literature also explaining the underlying neural and psychological mechanisms which lead to crossmodal perception of flavor The book brings together research which has not been presented before making it the first book in the market to cover the literature of multisensory flavor perception by incorporating the latest in psychophysics and neuroscience Authored by top academics and world leaders in the field Takes readers on a journey from the neurological underpinnings of multisensory flavor perception then presenting insights that can be used by food companies to create better flavor sensations for consumers Offers a wide perspective on multisensory flavor perception an area of rapidly expanding knowledge

German international companies in the Portuguese market. The impact of cultural differences on the brand personality Juliane Couto, 2017-09-25 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 2 2 Cologne Business School K In language English abstract This study examines how cultural differences between Germany and Portugal affect the brand personality of German international companies True cultural connection is the Holy Grail for brands if they want to create an enduring emotional relationship with people The analysis of this thesis goes hand in hand with this quote by Adam Chmielowski Group Head at Flamingo In order to find out if his statement concerning the importance of brand awareness in branding is true a suitable research question will be introduced The goal is to find out whether international companies are already aware of this fact and what consequences it has on the brand personality if a company tries to enter a new market in another country but expulses the cultural aspects A recognizable brand name can lead to an increase in sales and could therefore be one of the most valuable assets of a company Especially for companies who offer products or services which can easily be copied by others or where several substitutes are available in the market An example for such an industry is the automotive industry because they differentiate themselves through their brand personality The significant value of a brand name and personality is not only important due to high competition but also because of the increase in emotional wants and needs of the customer which need to be met in order to make profit Potential customers might be more likely to buy a product from a known brand that they might have positive associations or feelings with than from an unknown Hence it is important to attach a consumer to stay with the company and become a loyal customer for this brand because unlike product attributes the ideas of the consumer of this brand do not easily change The setting up of a brand image is a marketing step and investment for beneficial in the long term In this context the term brand personality stands for profile of a brand with human characteristics Printers' Ink, 1961 The Northwestern Miller, 1929 Market Analysis Percival White, 1921 *Sanford Research Company V.
