Ostwald, Michael J. Dawes, 2018-04-12 This book presents the first detailed mathematical analysis of the social cognitive and experiential properties of Modernist domestic architecture The Modern Movement in architecture which came to prominence during the first half of the twentieth century may have been famous for its functional forms and machine made aesthetic but it also sought to challenge the way people inhabit understand and experience space Ludwig Mies van der Rohe's buildings were not only minimalist and transparent they were designed to subvert traditional social hierarchies Frank Lloyd Wright's organic Modernism not only attempted to negotiate a more responsive relationship between nature and architecture but also shape the way people experience space Richard Neutra's Californian Modernism is traditionally celebrated for its sleek geometric forms but his intention was to use design to support a heightened understanding of context Glenn Murcutt's pristine pavilions seemingly the epitome of regional Modernism actually raise important questions about the socio spatial structure of architecture Rather than focussing on form or style in Modernism this book examines the spatial social and experiential properties of thirty seven designs by Wright Mies Neutra and Murcutt The computational and mathematical methods used for this purpose are drawn from space syntax isovist geometry and graph theory The specific issues that are examined include the sensory and emotional appeal of space and form shifting social and spatial structures in architectural planning wayfinding and visual understanding and the relationship between form and program A Field Guide to American Houses (Revised) Virginia Savage McAlester, 2015-11-10 The fully expanded updated and freshly designed second edition of the most comprehensive and widely acclaimed guide to domestic architecture in print since its original publication in 1984 and acknowledged everywhere as the unmatched essential guide to American houses This revised edition includes a section on neighborhoods expanded and completely new categories of house styles with photos and descriptions of each an appendix on Approaches to Construction in the 20th and 21st Centuries an expanded bibliography and 600 new photographs and line drawings Global Perspectives on Critical Architecture Gevork Hartoonian, 2016-03-03 Judging from the debates taking place in both education and practice it appears that architecture is deeply in crisis New design and production techniques together with the globalization of capital and even skilled labour have reduced architecture to a commodified object its aesthetic qualities tapping into the current pervasive desire for the spectacular These developments have changed the architect's role in the design and production processes of architecture Moreover critical architectural theories including those of Breton Heidegger and Benjamin which explored the concepts of technology modernism labour and capital and how technology informed the cultural along with later theories from the 1960s which focused more on the architect's theorization of his/her own design strategies seem increasingly irrelevant In an age of digital reproduction and commodification these theoretical approaches need to be reassessed Bringing together essays and interviews from leading scholars such as Kenneth Frampton Peggy Deamer Bernard Tschumi Donald Kunze and Marco Biraghi this volume investigates and critically addresses various dimensions of the present crisis of architecture It poses questions such as Is architecture a conservative cultural product servicing a given producer-consumer system Should architecture's affiliative ties with capitalism be subjected to a measure of criticism that can be expanded to the entirety of the cultural realm Is architecture's infusion into the cultural the reason for the visibility of architecture today What room does the city leave for architecture beyond the present delirium of spectacle Should the thematic of various New Left criticisms of capitalism be taken as the premise of architectural criticism Or alternatively putting the notion of criticality aside is it enough to confine criticism to the production of insightful and pleasurable texts The Architectural Review ,2003 American Masterworks Kenneth Frampton, David Larkin, 1995 This stunning volume presents America's finest masterpieces of modern residential architecture featuring 34 houses by such luminaries as Richard Neutra Frank Lloyd Wright and Michael Graves Frampton explores each house in depth discussing its place in the progression of American architecture its role in the architect's oeuvre and its meaning in America 200 illustrations 150 in color Art in America Frank Jewett Mather, Frederic Fairchild Sherman, 2006 New York ,2008 The Stories behind the Architectural Masterpieces: Unveiling the Secrets of Iconic Houses Pasquale De Marco, Journey into the world of architectural innovation and visionary design with The Stories behind the Architectural Masterpieces Unveiling the Secrets of Iconic Houses This captivating book takes you on a fascinating exploration of the iconic houses created by the renowned architects Marcel Breuer and Herbert Beckhard Step into a realm where architecture transcends mere structures and becomes a profound expression of art and human experience Discover how Breuer and Beckhard's collaborative spirit and unwavering dedication to pushing the boundaries of design resulted in a series of houses that redefined the very essence of modern living. Delve into the design principles and guiding philosophies that shaped their work from their embrace of simplicity and functionality to their masterful integration of natural elements and materials. Witness how they blurred the boundaries between indoor and outdoor spaces creating a seamless connection with nature that transformed the living experience. Explore the innovative building materials and techniques that Breuer and Beckhard employed showcasing their pioneering use of concrete, steel and glass. Discover how their experiments with prefabrication and sustainable design strategies laid the foundation for contemporary architecture. Uncover the stories behind the facades of their iconic houses revealing the aspirations of the clients who commissioned them and the collaborative process that brought their dreams to life. Learn about the challenges and unforeseen obstacles that the architects faced and how they overcame them with ingenuity and unwavering determination. Through captivating case studies the book delves into the details of some of Breuer and Beckhard's most celebrated houses including the Geller House, the Herbert Beckhard House and the Breuer House II. These masterpieces serve as tangible examples of their architectural prowess showcasing their ability to create spaces that are both aesthetically stunning and functionally brilliant. The legacy of Breuer and Beckhard extends far beyond the walls of the houses they designed. Their influence on subsequent generations of architects is undeniable and their work continues to inspire and captivate design enthusiasts worldwide. This book is a testament to their enduring impact on the world of architecture and a celebration of their visionary spirit. If you like this book write a review.

American Masterworks Kenneth Frampton, 1995-10. The houses themselves are examined and placed in the context of 20th century American cultural and artistic movements.

Masterpiece Iconic Houses Beth Browne, The Images Publishing Group, 2012. This title presents an up to the minute collection of residential work from much lauded practitioners proving that architecture can always be reimagined.

The Timeless Home Dominic Bradbury, 2019. Whether in town or country, James Gorst's buildings are defined by a combination of modern thinking and an ingrained respect for craftsmanship and bespoke detailing with equal weight given to architectural form and engaging vibrant interiors full of texture and life. This is the first monograph on his work. In many respects the timeless character of Gorst's work is rooted in the architect's own journey. Starting out as a neo-classicist, Gorst ultimately became frustrated by the restrictions and historicism of the classical approach and reinvented himself as a dedicated modernist yet continued to place particular emphasis on a love of proportion, scale, symmetry and detailing. Ranging from rural projects which reflect the vernacular traditions of the surrounding countryside including large contemporary country houses like RIBA award winning Ironstone House to others which creatively reinvent and add to period properties along with new and innovative urban homes, all are defined by a particular ambition to be innovative, fresh and one of a kind. Each of Gorst's houses represents a particular journey informed by the client and their needs, the context of the site and a response to landscape and setting which is often reflected in his choice of natural textures and materials
