The Journal of Philosophy, 2000

The Transcendental Turn Sebastian Gardner, Matthew Grist, 2015-02-19 Kant's influence on the history of philosophy is vast and protean The transcendental turn denotes one of its most important forms defined by the notion that Kant's deepest insight should not be identified with any specific epistemological or metaphysical doctrine but rather concerns the fundamental standpoint and terms of reference of philosophical enquiry To take the transcendental turn is not to endorse any of Kant's specific teachings but to accept that the Copernican revolution announced in the Preface of the Critique of Pure Reason sets philosophy on a new footing and constitutes the proper starting point of philosophical reflection The aim of this volume is to map the historical trajectory of transcendental philosophy and the major forms that it has taken The contributions from leading contemporary scholars focus on the question of what the transcendental turn consists in its motivation justification and implications and the limitations and problems which it arguably confronts with reference to the relevant major figures in modern philosophy including Kant Fichte Hegel Nietzsche Husserl Heidegger Merleau Ponty and Wittgenstein Central themes and topics discussed include the distinction of realism from idealism the relation of transcendental to absolute idealism the question of how transcendental conclusions stand in relation to and whether they can be made compatible with naturalism the application of transcendental thought to foundational issues in ethics and the problematic relation of phenomenology to transcendental enquiry

The Phenomenology of Embodied Subjectivity Rasmus Thybo Jensen, Dermot Moran, 2014-01-14 The 17 original essays of this volume explore the relevance of the phenomenological approach to contemporary debates concerning the role of embodiment in our cognitive emotional and practical life The papers demonstrate the theoretical vitality and critical potential of the phenomenological tradition both through critically engagement with other disciplines medical anthropology psychoanalysis psychiatry the cognitive sciences and through the articulation of novel interpretations of classical works in the tradition in particular the works of Edmund Husserl Maurice Merleau Ponty and Jean Paul Sartre The concrete phenomena analyzed in this book include chronic pain anorexia melancholia and depression Introduction to Phenomenology Robert Sokolowski,1999-10-28 This book presents the major philosophical doctrines of phenomenology in a clear lively style with an abundance of examples The book examines such phenomena as perception pictures imagination memory language and reference and shows how human thinking arises from experience It also studies personal identity as established through time and discusses the nature of philosophy In addition to providing a new interpretation of the correspondence theory of truth the author also explains how phenomenology differs from both modern and postmodern forms of thinking The Breakthrough to Phenomenology Ryan Hickerson,2003 Mind ,2003 Issues for 1896 1900 contain papers of the Aristotelian Society The Routledge Companion to Twentieth Century Philosophy Dermot Moran,2008-10-27 Featuring twenty two chapters written by leading international scholars this major publication covers all the key figures and movements from Frege to Derrida and philosophy of language to feminist philosophy Ideas I Edmund Husserl,2014 Husserl s Ideas is one of the most important works of twentieth century philosophy offering a detailed introduction to the phenomenological method including the reduction and outlining the overall scope of phenomenological philosophy Husserl s explorations of the a priori structures of intentionality consciousness perceptual experience evidence and rationality continue to challenge contemporary philosophy of mind Dan Dahlstrom s accurate and faithful translation written in pellucid prose and in a fluid modern idiom brings this classic work to life for a new generation Dermot Moran University College Dublin
