Stand Out Dorie Clark, 2015-04-21 Standing out is no longer optional Too many people believe that if they keep their heads down and work hard they'll be recognized on the merits of their work But that's simply not true anymore Safe jobs disappear daily and the clamor of everyday life drowns out ordinary contributions To make a name for yourself to create true job security and to make a difference in the world you have to share your unique perspective and inspire others to take action But in a noisy world where it seems everything's been said and shouted from the rooftops how can your ideas stand out Fortunately you don't have to be a genius or a worldwide superstar to make an impact Drawing on interviews with more than fifty thought leaders in fields ranging from business to genomics to urban planning Dorie Clark shows how these masters achieved success and how anyone with hard work can do the same Whether it's learning to ask the right questions developing and building on an expert niche or combining disparate fields to get a new perspective Clark outlines ways to develop the ideas that set you apart Of course having a breakthrough insight is only half the battle If you really want to share your ideas you have to find a way to build an audience communicate your message and inspire others to embrace your vision Starting small is fine Clark provides a step by step guide to help you leverage your existing networks attract new people to your cause and ultimately build a community around your ideas Featuring vivid examples based on interviews with influencers such as Seth Godin David Allen and Daniel Pink Clark shows you how to break through and ensure that your ideas get noticed Becoming a thought leader in your company or in your profession is the ultimate career insurance But even more important it's also a chance to change the world for the better

Whatever your cause perspective or point of view the world can't afford for the best ideas to remain buried inside you Whether it's how to improve the educational system or how to make your company more efficient your ideas matter The world needs your insights and it's time to be bold 2006年11月 2006-11-01 Intuit Scott Cook Hodrick, Sean D. Carr, 2005 CASE SETTING 250 million to 499 million in revenues luxury goods Netherlands France At three o'clock in the morning of September 10 2001 Thierry Hautillac a risk arbitrageur learns of the final agreement between Pinault Printemps Redoute SA PPR and LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton SA LVMH After a contest for control of Gucci lasting more than two years PPR has emerged as the winner PPR and LVMH have agreed that PPR will buy about half of LVMH's Gucci stock for 94 a share Gucci will pay an extraordinary dividend of 7 a share and PPR will give a two and a half year put option with a strike price of 101.50 to Gucci's public shareholders In this case the primary task for the student is to recommend a course of action for Hautillac should he sell his 2% holding of Gucci shares when the market opens continue to hold his shares or buy more shares The student must estimate the risky arbitrage returns from each of these choices As a basis for this decision the student must value the terms of payment and consider what the Gucci stock price will do when the market opens The student must determine Gucci's intrinsic value by using a DCF model as well as information on peer firms and transactions The student must also consider potential synergies between Gucci and PPR and between Gucci and LVMH Finally the student must assess the likelihood of a higher bid by analyzing price changes at earlier events in the contest 2015年8月
