The Mangrove Ecosystem of Deep Bay and the Mai Po Marshes, Hong Kong Shing-Yip Lee, 1999-01-01 This volume comprises original research papers reporting findings collected by participants of the International Workshop on the Mangrove Ecosystem of Deep Bay and the Mai Po Marshes jointly organized by the University of Hong Kong and World Wide Fund for Nature Hong Kong and held at the Mai Po Marshes in September 1993

Ecological Aquaculture Barry A. Costa-Pierce, 2008-04-15 As the world's demand for food from aquatic environments continues to increase the importance of performing aquaculture in an environmentally responsible manner also increases The aim of this important and thought provoking book is to stimulate discussion among aquaculture's modern scientific education and extension communities concerning the principles practices and policies needed to develop ecologically and socially sustainable aquaculture systems worldwide Ecological Aquaculture provides fascinating and valuable insights into primitive and often sustainable culture systems and ties these to modern large scale aquaculture systems The book is edited and authored to a considerable degree by Barry Costa Pierce who has assembled a team of some of the leading thinkers in the field providing information spanning a spectrum of activities from artisanal to high technology approaches to producing aquatic organisms in a balanced and environmentally friendly way Ecological Aquaculture is an essential purchase for all aquaculture personnel involved in commercial practical and research capacities Libraries in research establishments and universities where aquaculture biological environmental and aquatic sciences are studied and taught should have copies of this book available on their shelves

Biscayne Bay Coastal Wetlands Final Integrated Project Implementation Report and Environmental Impact Statement United States.

Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works), 2012

Coastal Wetlands Gerardo M.E. Perillo, Eric Wolanski, Donald R. Cahoon, Mark M. Brinson, 2009-01-18 Coastal wetlands are under a great deal of pressure from the dual forces of rising sea level and the intervention of human populations both along the estuary and in the river catchment Direct impacts include the destruction or degradation of wetlands from land reclamation and infrastructures Indirect impacts derive from the discharge of pollutants changes in river flows and sediment supplies land clearing and dam operations As sea level rises coastal wetlands in most areas of the world migrate landward to occupy former uplands The competition of these lands from human development is intensifying making the landward migration impossible in many cases This book provides an understanding of the functioning of coastal ecosystems and the ecological services that they provide and suggestions for their management In this book a CD is included containing color figures of wetlands and estuaries in different parts of the world Includes a CD containing color figures of wetlands and estuaries in different parts of the world Estuarine Indicators Stephen A. Bortone, 2004-12-28 Acknowledging the present inability to determine objectively the status and trends among estuarine ecosystems the environmental research community has recently stepped up efforts to develop and evaluate meaningful estuarine indicators This goal requires the effort of researchers from a broad spectrum of disciplines In order to expedite this initiative Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary Comprehensive Management Plan, Monroe County, 1996

Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary: Development of the management plan : environmental impact statement, 1996 Dynamic Aquaria Walter H. Adey, 2024-03-11 Dynamic Aquaria Building and Restoring Ecosystems and the Biosphere Fourth Edition demonstrates how the living systems modeling of aquatic ecosystems for ecological biological physiological research and ecosystem restoration produce answers to very complex ecological questions The book describes unique characteristics of water that have allowed carbon chemistry to flourish and evolve life over 4 billion years along with current disruptions such as global warming overfishing and chemical pollution New content in this edition includes the use of LED lighting DNA sequencing in microcosm construction and analysis and the expansion of the bioengineered tool Algal Turf Scrubbing ATS to combat global pollution problems The book also features new information on marine calcification research microcosms thermogeography and methods of water movement for minimizing plankton loss It supports a deeper biological and ecological intelligence among the human population to better understand the processes behind environmental issues Offers the basic physical and chemical background necessary for understanding aquatic and marine ecosystems Expands available electro mechanical tools for developing living system models Features new information on the biomimicry water control system Algal Turf Scrubbing ATS Evidences how ecosystem modeling can contribute to the understanding of climate change World Atlas of Mangroves Mark Spalding, 2010-09-23 Published with ISME ITTO and project partners FAO UNESCO MAB UNEP WCMC and UNU INWEH This atlas provides the first truly global assessment of the state of the world's mangroves Written by a leading expert on mangroves with support from the top international researchers and conservation organizations this full colour atlas contains 60 full page maps hundreds of photographs and illustrations and a comprehensive country by country assessment of mangroves Mangroves are considered both ecologically and from a human perspective Initial chapters provide a global view with information on distribution biogeography productivity and wider ecology as well as on human uses economic values threats and approaches for mangrove management These themes are revisited throughout the regional chapters where the maps provide a spatial context or starting point for further exploration The book also presents a wealth of statistics on biodiversity habitat area loss and economic value which provide a unique record of mangroves against which future threats and changes can be evaluated Case studies written by regional experts provide insights into regional mangrove issues including primary and potential productivity biodiversity and information on present and traditional uses and values and sustainable management

WETLANDS The definitive guide to wetlands for students and professionals alike Wetlands rank among the most productive but also the most vulnerable ecosystems They break down toxins and help maintain aquatic ecosystems provide both permanent and temporary homes for key species and contribute enormously to biodiversity and global ecological health In recent years the importance of wetlands has been increasingly well understood and their management and restoration has become a particular focus of environmental research Wetlands provides a thorough and comprehensive overview of wetlands updated to reflect the latest research findings and methodological approaches as it has done for more than a generation The new edition has been optimized for classroom use breaking down the topic into four parts introduction to wetlands the wetland environment wetland ecosystems and wetland management Readers of the sixth edition of Wetlands will also find A detailed discussion of the role of wetlands in improving water quality protection from storm damage and other ecosystem services The latest approaches and examples of wetland creation and restoration A thorough discussion of the impacts of climate change on wetlands and how to mitigate them Wetlands is essential reading for students and professionals in ecology environmental engineering and water resource management

Tropical Mangrove Ecosystems A. I. Robertson, D. M. Alongi, 2013-03-18 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Coastal and Estuarine Studies Volume 41 Mangrove forests are a dominant feature of tropical coasts Like their terrestrial counterparts these forests are under threat worldwide through a variety of destructive human practices As is also the case with tropical terrestrial forests management decisions about mangrove ecosystems are currently being made often without adequate fundamental knowledge of the processes controlling natural ecosystem function

Diversity and Function in Mangrove Ecosystems Richard Standiford, 2012-12-06 Mangroves are salt adapted plants that are found along many of the world's tropical and sub tropical coastlines Regrettably these plants are being lost due to over exploitation pollution conversion to agriculture and aquaculture and other causes This is having important consequences for local human populations that traditionally rely on this resource and is upsetting the fine balance needed to maintain this highly productive ecosystem This text brings together some papers from two recent international symposia on the mangrove ecosystem It provides an outline of future directions in mangrove research considered to be urgent by prominent mangrove scientists Contributions include aspects of population differentiation in mangrove species that have been very little studied so far ecological function and restoration and management of the mangrove ecosystem This book is intended for scientists actively working in the areas of mangrove ecology and management

Science-based Restoration Monitoring of Coastal Habitats: Tools for monitoring coastal habitats ,2003 This guidance manual provides technical assistance outlines necessary steps and provides useful tools for the development and implementation of sound scientific monitoring of coastal restoration efforts and offers a means to detect early warnings that the restoration is on track or not to gauge how well a restoration site is functioning to coordinate projects and efforts for consistent and successful restoration and to evaluate the ecological health of specific coastal habitats both before and after project completion

Mangroves: Structure, Functions, Ecology and Biodiversity Dr. Hiren B. Soni, Dr. Kavita Thakur, Marine ecosystems are diverse habitats endowed with physical chemical and geographical variations in the ecosystems where the gradation from highly productive organisms to highly specialized organisms exists India has almost 7 517 km long coast of which 5 423 km belongs to the peninsular India and around 2 094 km to the Andaman Nicobar and Lakshadweep Islands The mainland coast of India consists of 43% sandy beaches 11% rocky coast including cliffs and 46% mudflats or marshy coast This massive coastline of India supports the human population tremendously through marine resources Nearly 250 million people live within the fringe of 50 km from the coastline of India Hence a vital role in India's economic growth is played by the ecological services that the marine and coastal ecosystems provide The MPAN Marine Protected Area Network in India regulates the natural marine resources to conserve the depleting biodiversity for the betterment of people that are dependent on these coastal resources Moreover Gujarat State is bestowed with one of the longest coastline of India 1 650 km The Gulf of Kachchh Gujarat is India's first Marine National Park MNP contributing to the ecological importance of the state's coastal ecosystem exhibiting the most vulnerable biological diversity in intertidal mudflats gulfs bays wetlands mangroves salt marshes coral reefs beaches dunes and estuaries The book Mangroves Structure Functions Ecology and Biodiversity focuses on environmental and ecological studies of Gulf of Kachchh Western Gujarat India in relation to eutrophication biotic components structure and functions of mangroves and biomonitoring of metals The book covers an in depth study of surface water and bottom sediment quality diversity density abundance commonness rarity of shells ecological structure and functions of mangrove environment including composition population dynamics community structure of floral and faunal species phytochemical constituents of selected mangrove tree species and biomonitoring of nutrients in Avicennia marina The book would unquestionably be the need of an hour for mangroves managers marine conservationists and policy makers or decision authorities to prevent the unrestrained exploitation of marine biodiversity destruction of potential mangrove habitats and uncontrolled interactions of man and technology with mangrove ecosystems around the world

Mangrove Ecology, Silviculture and Conservation

Peter Saenger, 2013-06-29 Mangroves are a fascinating group of plants that occur on tropical and subtropical shorelines of all continents where they are exposed to saltwater inundation low oxygen levels around their roots high light and temperature conditions and periodic tropical storms Despite these harsh conditions mangroves may form luxuriant forests which are of significant economic and environmental value throughout the world they provide coastal protection and underpin fisheries and forestry operations as well as a range of other human activities This book provides an up to date account of mangrove plants from around the world together with silvicultural and restoration techniques and the management requirements of these communities to ensure their sustainability and conservation All aspects of mangroves and their conservation are critically re examined Those activities which threaten their ongoing survival are identified and suggestions are offered to minimise their effects on these significant plant communities
