Proceedings of the International Conference on Learning and Advanced Education (ICOLAE 2022) Mauliy Halwat Hikmat, Yasir Sidiq, Naufal Ishartono, Yunus Sulistyono, Patmisari, Susiati, 2023-08-29 This is an open access book The COVID 19 pandemic in the last two years has influenced how educational system works Online learning became the primal policy taken by all institutions in the world to lower the risk of the virus spread Despite the drawbacks of the online learning teachers and students were accustomed with the distant learning through web meetings Learning Management Systems LMS and other online learning platforms In that time topics under digital learning and education 50 were the main stakes in academic disseminations This year some institutions start to conduct their teaching and learning process classically as before the pandemic others are still continuing online and not few are in hybrid This leaves a question what learning reform should be made in post pandemic era This conference invites researchers experts teachers and students to discuss the coping solutions of the question It is important for them to contribute to the understanding of re imaging online education for better futures innovative learning design new skills for living and working in new times global challenge of education learning and teaching with blended learning flipped learning integrating life skills for students in the curriculum developing educators for the future distance learning humanities learning in the digital era assessment and measurement in education challenges and transformations in education technology in teaching and learning new learning and teaching models Not limited to these scholars may add another interesting topic related to learning reform in post pandemic era to present Chinese Encounters in Southeast Asia Pál Nyíri, Danielle Tan, 2016-12-01 This is the first book to focus explicitly on how China's rise as a major economic and political actor has affected societies in Southeast Asia It examines how Chinese investors workers tourists bureaucrats longtime residents and adventurers interact throughout Southeast Asia The contributors use case studies to show the scale of Chinese influence in the region and the ways in which various countries mitigate their unequal relationship with China by negotiating asymmetry circumventing hegemony and embracing resisting or manipulating the terms dictated by Chinese capital

Indonesian Cinema after the New Order Thomas Barker, 2019-09-16 In Indonesian Cinema after the New Order Going Mainstream Thomas Barker presents the first systematic and most comprehensive history of contemporary Indonesian cinema The book focuses on a 20 year period of great upheaval from modest indie beginnings through mainstream appeal to international recognition More than a simple narrative Barker contributes to cultural studies and sociological research by defining the three stages of an industry moving from state administration through needing to succeed in local pop culture specifically succeeding with Indonesian youth to remain financially viable until it finally realizes international recognition as an art form This going mainstream paradigm reaches far beyond film history and forms a methodology for understanding the market in which all cultural industries operate where the citizen consumer not the state becomes sovereign Indonesia presents a particularly interesting case because going mainstream has increasingly meant catering to the demands of new Islamic piety movements It has also meant working with a new Ministry of Tourism and Creative Economy established in 2011 Rather than a simplified creative world many hoped for Indonesian filmmaking now navigates a new complex of challenges different to those faced before 1998 Barker sees this industry as a microcosm of the entire country democratic yet burdened by authoritarian legacies creative yet culturally contested international yet domestically shaped This is a significant piece of scholarly contribution informed by an extensive range of interviews with industry insiders This volume is particularly welcome given the dearth of English language publications on Indonesian cinema in the last two decades I have no doubt that the book will be extensively used in any future work on national cinema not just in Indonesia but Southeast Asia more widely Krishna Sen University of Western Australia Indonesian Cinema after the New Order is a marvelously entertaining and important contribution to the study of Indonesian cinema youth culture and media worlds in a global context In fact I would consider it the best book I have seen on the subject of the Indonesian film industry Mary Steedly Harvard University

China and the Shaping of Indonesia, 1949-1965 Hong Liu, 2011 The interactions and mutual perceptions of China and Indonesia were a significant element in Asia's postcolonial transformation but as a result of prevailing emphasis on diplomatic and political relations within a Cold War and nation state framework their multi-dimensional interrelationship and its complex domestic ramifications have escaped scholarly scrutiny China and the Shaping of Indonesia provides a meticulous account of versatile interplay between knowledge power ethnicity and diplomacy in the context of Sino Indonesian interactions between 1949 and 1965 Taking a transnational approach that views Asia as a flexible geographical and political construct this book addresses three central questions First what images of China were prevalent in Indonesia and how were narratives about China construed and reconstructed Second why did the China Metaphor the projection of an imagined foreign land onto the local intellectual and political milieu become central to Indonesians' conception of themselves and a cause for self criticism and rediscovery Third how was the China Metaphor incorporated into Indonesia's domestic politics and culture and how did it affect the postcolonial transformation the fate of the ethnic Chinese minority and Sino Indonesian diplomacy Employing a wide range of hitherto untapped primary materials in Indonesian and Chinese as well as his own interviews Hong Liu presents a compelling argument that many influential politicians and intellectuals among them Sukarno Hatta and Pramoedya utilized China as an alternative model of modernity in conceiving and developing projects of social engineering cultural regeneration and political restructuring that helped shape the trajectory of modern Indonesia The multiplicity of China thus constituted a site of political contestations and intellectual imaginations The study is a major contribution both to the intellectual and political history of Indonesia and to the reconceptualization of Asian studies it also serves as a timely reminder of the importance of historicizing China's rising soft power in a transnational Asia
