Backcountry Avalanche Awareness:

Backcountry Avalanche Awareness Bruce Jamieson, 2000 This book is based on the Canadian Avalanche Association's introductory avalanche course. Backcountry Avalanche Safety Tony Daffern, 2017-10-17 Essential reading for all outdoor enthusiasts who venture into mountainous terrain where avalanches are common. In spite of the increasing sophistication of avalanche hazard forecasting, an alarming number of people die every year in backcountry avalanche accidents. This updated edition of Backcountry Avalanche Safety contains the latest information on avalanche risk and focuses on the following vital topics: Mountain Weather, Snow, and Snowpack, Types of Avalanches, Avalanche Terrain, Trip Planning, Avalanche Gear, Travel in Avalanche Terrain, Riding Steep Slopes, Companion Rescue. Using colour photographs along with detailed charts, graphs, and diagrams, the author clearly explains the importance of managing risk while enjoying backcountry adventure during the winter months.

Avalanche Awareness in the New Zealand Backcountry Penelope Goddard, Penny Goddard, New Zealand Alpine Club, 2008-01-01

Backcountry Avalanche Safety Tony Daffern, 2009 Snow avalanches are the greatest source of danger for mountain travellers in winter. This book focuses on two basic user groups: those who wish to avoid avalanche hazard by careful route finding, and those who deliberately seek steep slopes to ski or board. It explains the basics of snow and avalanches and identifies the avalanche terrain.

Avalanche Awareness in the New Zealand Backcountry Penny Goddard, Everyone who visits the mountains needs to have an understanding of avalanches and the threat they pose. This book provides simple strategies for identifying avalanche terrain and avalanche conditions and teaches rescue techniques. It reflects the best in current avalanche knowledge applied to New Zealand's unique mountain environment. Cover

The ABCs of Avalanche Safety Sue A. Ferguson, Edward R. LaChapelle, 2003 ABCs of Avalanche Safety 3rd Edition is still the handy pocket guide offered at a bargain price. And it is still loaded with the vital information you need to survive in the mountains: how to determine potential avalanche hazard, traveling safely in avalanche terrain, what to do if you're caught in an avalanche, and search and rescue techniques. A respected authority since 1961, this enduring classic has been updated with the very latest research in the field, including avalanche transceiver technology.

Allen & Mike's Avalanche Book Mike Clelland, Allen O'Bannon, 2012-12-04 With more and more people heading into the winter backcountry on skis, snowshoes, and snowmobiles, avalanche safety is of paramount importance. Allen & Mike's Really Cool Avalanche Safety Book distills the sometimes overly technical information of snow science into a user-friendly format with helpful illustrations and easy-to-understand text. With years of experience as NOLS instructors, Allen O'Bannon and Mike Clelland team up to give winter recreationists the information they need to stay safe in the backcountry, including how to prepare for your trip, proper equipment, and how to use it, snowpack assessment, choosing safe travel routes, decision making, and rescue scenarios.

Written for both aspiring winter backcountry travelers and experts alike this book is a must read for anybody who loves to experience the solitude and beauty of the snowy mountains Avalanche Essentials Bruce Tremper, 2013 This new guide by renowned avalanche expert Bruce Tremper is simple accessible and offers just the basics an Everyman's guide to avalanche safety that won't overtax your average ski bums but will keep them safe when they're going for 12 consecutive months of powder Avalanche Essentials is for everyone who wants to learn the fundamentals of avalanche awareness focusing on systems and checklists step by step procedures decision making aids visual terrain and weather cues rescue techniques gear and more Provided by publisher An Analysis of Visitor Awareness of Avalanche Danger at Three Areas, Mt. Hood, Oregon Stephen W. Couche, 1978 Use of backcountry areas in winter by crosscountry skiers snowshoers climbers snowmobilers and others has increased rapidly in the Mt Hood area of Oregon in recent years With this increase in use a larger segment of the user population is being exposed to potential avalanche hazard The purpose of this study is to analyze the effectiveness of avalanche warning programs in the Mt Hood area In order to do this the current warning program was analyzed by the investigator and winter backcountry users were questioned as to how effective they thought it was In conjunction the user's avalanche awareness was tested their travel routes were recorded primarily in relation to hazardous vs nonhazardous terrain the user's winter backcountry and climbing experience recorded and their avalanche safety and awareness training recorded Three study locations were used during all but two weekends from January 15 1977 to March 26 1977 The study locations were at Timberline Lodge and areas accessible from the lodge White River Canyon and Hood River Meadows and adjoining areas All areas were on the slopes of Mt Hood Methods used in the study included on the ground surveys supplemented by aerial photographs to map the avalanche paths within the study areas recording the location of all avalanche warning signs and observing the degree of use they received on site interviews and mailback questionnaires to gather backcountry experience and education information from the user and test their avalanche awareness and periodic ski trips into the study areas to survey use patterns Results showed that 33.5 percent of the people were traveling in potentially hazardous avalanche terrain The potential for people to reach hazardous terrain with minimal experience was clear when terrain was reviewed and the low level of experience of some people traveling in such terrain analyzed The U S Forest Service has begun an avalanche warning and awareness program in the Mt Hood area Analysis showed that few people took advantage of avalanche hazard information available through the Forest Service only 16.3 percent had checked with the Forest Service to find out avalanche conditions in the Mt Hood area only slightly more people 29.3 percent were aware of the avalanche advisory sign advising people of avalanche conditions in the backcountry areas on the south and west sides of Mt Hood and visual observations showed that few people made a point to read posted avalanche warning signs in the backcountry areas The reasons why the warning and awareness program are not successful are 1 the low avalanche awareness of users in the backcountry areas of Mt Hood in the sample less than eight percent of the people scored above 70 percent on the avalanche awareness test out of a total of 30 points possible 2 the inability of signs currently in use to effectively transmit the message and 3 the ineffectiveness of currently available avalanche safety programs and the way in which they are made available Methods for improving the warning and awareness program are suggested in Chapter five It is felt that increasing numbers of people participating in winter backcountry activities and the ease with which hazardous areas are accessible make the need for a good and efficient program imperative
