imagination How do you understand and live with definitive feelings of having been abused when the origin of those feelings won't adhere to a singular event but are rather diffused across years of experience In Bullied The Story of an Abuse Jonathan Alexander meditates on how as a young man he struggled with the realization that the story he'd been telling himself about being abused by a favorite uncle as a child might actually just have been a story a story he told himself and others to justify both his lifelong struggle with anxiety and to explain his attraction to other men Story though it was Alexander maintains that some form of abuse did occur In writing that is at turns reflective analytic and hallucinatory Alexander traces what it means to suffer homophobic abuse when such is diffused across multiple actors and locales implicating a family a school a culture and a politics as opposed to a singular individual who just happened to be the only openly gay man in young Alexander's life Along the way Alexander reflects on Jussie Smollett drug abuse MAGA capped boys sadomasochism Catholic priests cruising teaching young adult fiction about rape and a host of other oddly but intimately related topics London Magazine John Lehmann, Alan Ross, 1992 The Book Review Digest, 2004 International Who's Who of Authors and Writers 2008 Europa Publications, 2007-08-23 An invaluable source of information on the personalities and organizations of the literary world
