

we take it a step further – even if it gets a bit mystical now – and imagine something at length would have a building, and it can be to imagine what that would be for with nothing left, nothing there to touch anything else. The question arises: does the building still have a sound? In a way, perhaps, I think each one needs a kind of tone. They have sounds that aren't caused by factors like the size what they are. Maybe it's the wood or something, but you only really feel there's something else there when you enter a space that's underpinned. It's lovely, I find it's a beautiful thing when you're making a building and you imagine the building in that silence. I mean trying to make the building a quiet place. That's really difficult because, because our world has become so noisy, with not so much being quietness. But I know other places that are much quieter and you have to go to some lengths to make quiet rooms and imagine the sound they make with all their proportions and materials in a silence of their own. I realize the sound I am making must remind you of a certain – but isn't it more simple than that, and more quiet than? How does it really sound, when we walk through it? When we speak, when we talk to each other – what will have been for the 1980s sound

Atmospheres Architectural Environments Surrounding Objects Peter Zumthor:

Atmospheres Peter Zumthor, 2006 What really constitutes an architectural atmosphere Peter Zumthor says is this singular density and mood this feeling of presence well being harmony beauty under whose spell I experience what I otherwise would not experience in precisely this way Zumthor's passion is the creation of buildings that produce this kind of effect but how can one actually set out to achieve it In nine short illustrated chapters framed as a process of self observation Peter Zumthor describes what he has on his mind as he sets about creating the atmosphere of his houses Images of spaces and buildings that affect him are every bit as important as particular pieces of music or books that inspire him From the composition and presence of the materials to the handling of proportions and the effect of light this poetics of architecture enables the reader to recapitulate what really matters in the process of house design Architect Ruth Peltason, Grace Ong-Yan, 2017-11-07 In this completely revised and up to date edition the world's most accomplished architects Gehry Pei Meier Nouvel Piano and 37 more express their views on creativity inspiration and legacy in this visually stunning one of a kind collection The Pritzker Prize is the most prestigious international prize for architecture Architect includes all 42 recipients of the Pritzker Prize and captures in pictures and their own words their awe inspiring achievements Organized in reverse chronological order by laureate each chapter features four to six of the architect's major works including museums libraries hotels places of worship and more The text culled from notebooks interviews articles and speeches illuminates the architect's influences and inspirations personal philosophy and aspirations for his own work and the future of architecture The book includes More than 1000 stunning photographs blueprints sketches and CAD drawings Architect offers an unprecedented view into the minds of some of the most creative thinkers dreamers and builders of the last three decades and reveals that buildings are political emotional and spiritual Atmospheres of Projection Giuliana Bruno, 2022-10-13 Following on the success of Surface Bruno's previous book with us in this new one she explores the act and art of projection in its manifold guises and what those can tell us about how we think and feel and create the world we inhabit This is not just an exploration of the psychological operation of projection the idea that we cast onto others the qualities we refuse to acknowledge in ourselves It is a major work of cultural history and media archaeology As a way to transform space and atmosphere projection has a long history in the arts dating back to shadow plays camera obscuras magic lantern shows and phantasmagoria But the atmosphere of projection is not a thing of the past alone It is alive and well today It continues to fascinate us as screens filled with moving figures pervade the spaces of the art gallery and the museum as well as the environments of our daily lives What is the root of our fascination How does it manifest in contemporary art How do we define atmosphere How is projection an atmosphere Are these two modalities conceptually and historically related and how so Why are artists today so interested in environments and in elements of projection To explain this continual fascination with projection and atmosphere Bruno traverses psychoanalysis architecture the history of science visual art and moving

The Architecture and Geography of Sound Studios Even Smith Wergeland, 2024-06-21 This is a book about sound studios focusing on their architectural and geographical aspects It explores how music is materialized under specific spatial and technological conditions and the myths associated with this process Through ten in depth studies it examines the design evolution and current function of sound studios amidst economic and technological shifts in the music industry Traditional studios are in flux between the past and future The industry while steeped in romanticism and nostalgia also embraces forward driven pragmatism and an extensive reuse culture encompassing heritage audio building materials and existing buildings A surprisingly diverse architectural heritage the most significant feature is the host building the framework around the studio capsule Many traditional studios adapt to digitalization with hybrid solutions reflecting a shift toward smaller more versatile spaces In a time when recordings in theory can happen anywhere destination studios must excel to attract clients balancing historical legacies with diversification Although they may be easy to deconstruct many of the myths endure sustaining ideas of landmark recordings unique locations and distinct remnants of sonic heritage Courtesy of their capacity to keep the past alive in the present traditional sound studios are best described as museums that work This book aims to reach scholars and students with an interest in history theory and preservation as well as practicing architects and architectural students who wish to find out more about the relationship between sound and space acoustic design and retrofitting of historical buildings into specialized functions It also aims to reach practicing musicians producers music students and music scholars In the Brightness of Place Jeff Malpas, 2022-09-01 The work of Jeff Malpas is well known for its contribution to contemporary thinking about place and space In the Brightness of Place takes that contribution further as Malpas develops it in new ways and in relation to new topics At the same time the volume also develops Malpas distinctively topological approach to the work of Martin Heidegger Not limited simply to a reading of the topological in Heidegger In the Brightness of Place also takes up the idea of topology after Heidegger showing how topological thinking provides a way of rethinking Heidegger's own work and of rethinking our own being in the world Structures and Architecture Mario Rinke, Marie Frier Hvejsel, 2025-06-23 Structures and Architecture REstructure REMaterialize RETHink REuse contains the contributions to the 6th International Conference on Structures and Architecture ICSA 2025 Antwerp Belgium 8-11 July 2025 As a response to the pressing global climate and energy crisis and with new settings and tools the design and construction of our built environment needs reconsideration and extension The papers call for a re imagination of current practices regarding structures and architecture The volumes of the series are published every three years in tandem with the conferences organised by the International Association of Structures and Architecture They aim to reach a global audience of researchers practitioners and students including architects structural and construction engineers builders and building consultants constructors material suppliers planners urban designers anthropologists economists sociologists artists product manufacturers and other professionals involved in the design and realisation of architectural structural and infrastructural projects A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Elie G. Haddad, David Rifkind, 2016-12-05 1960 following as it did the last CIAM meeting signalled a turning point for the Modern Movement From then on architecture was influenced by seminal texts by Aldo Rossi and Robert Venturi and gave rise to the first revisionary movement following Modernism Bringing together leading experts in the field this book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010 It consists of two parts the first section providing a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects

Creating Through Mind and Emotions Mário Ming Kong, Maria do Rosário Monteiro, Maria João Pereira Neto, 2022-07-01 The texts presented in Proportion Harmonies and Identities PHI Creating Through Mind and Emotions were compiled to establish a multidisciplinary platform for presenting interacting and disseminating research This platform also aims to foster the awareness and discussion on Creating Through Mind and Emotions focusing on different visions relevant to Architecture Arts and Humanities Design and Social Sciences and its importance and benefits for the sense of identity both individual and communal The idea of Creating Through Mind and Emotions has been a powerful motor for development since the Western Early Modern Age Its theoretical and practical foundations have become the working tools of scientists philosophers and artists who seek strategies and policies to accelerate the development process in different contexts

Reading Architecture Angeliki Sioli, Yoonchun Jung, 2018-04-09 Why write instead of draw when it comes to architecture Why rely on literary pieces instead of architectural treatises and writings when it comes to the study of buildings and urban environments Why rely on literary techniques and accounts instead of architectural practices and analysis when it comes to academic research and educational projects Why trust authors and writers instead of sociologists or scientists when it comes to planning for the future of cities This book builds on the existing interdisciplinary bibliography on architecture and literature but prioritizes literature's capacity to talk about the lived experience of place and the premise that literary language can often express the inexpressible It sheds light on the importance of a literary instead of a pictorial imagination for architects and it looks into four contemporary architectural subjects through a wide variety of literary works Drawing on novels that engage cities from around the world the book reveals aspects of urban space to which other means of architectural representation are blind Whether through novels that employ historical buildings or sites interpreted through specific literary methods it suggests a range of methodologies for contemporary architectural academic research By exploring the power of narrative language in conveying the experience of lived space it discusses its potential for architectural design and pedagogy Questioning the massive architectural production of today's globalized capital driven world it turns to literature for ways to understand resist or suggest alternative paths for architectural practice Despite literature's fictional character the essays of this volume reveal true dimensions of and for places beyond their historical social and political reality dimensions of utmost importance for architects urban planners historians and theoreticians nowadays

Behind Architectural Filters Miguel Guitart, 2022-03-24 Behind Architectural Filters Phenomena of Interference explores the active role of architectural filters in generating physically and sensory charged spatial experiences The book addresses how the material and the psychological strategies of permeable physical boundaries determine our perceptual experiences of the spaces we occupy This book explores architectural filters as connecting mechanisms capable of conjuring unique atmospheres that integrate the participation of several agents The text analyzes ten case studies grouped under five generative parameters origin density thickness function and message Each study investigates the main aspects of the filters internal genesis and the character of the spaces informed by them The cases illustrate a broad geographic cultural and historical scope and connect past tradition with contemporary design This methodology considers a historical and philosophical standpoint addressing vernacular constructive sustainable and sensory considerations Written for students and scholars of architectural history theory art design and philosophy Behind Architectural Filters Phenomena of Interference offers an unprecedented perspective on the production of spatial atmospheres bridging past and present while connecting thought and practice in a highly visual study Chapter 3 of this book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
