Constructing Professional Discourse Concepción Orna-Montesinos, 2012 This book explores the fascinating role that language plays in the construction of non verbal objects by mapping out the ontological meaning of the specialised concepts and the domain specific knowledge embedded in them In doing so it provides a comprehensive linguistic insight into the discourse of professional domain specific communities and hence into the communication practices and procedures of those communities In this respect the book offers a response to the claims made by many of the most influential applied linguists today such as Vijay Bhatia 1993 2004 John Swales 1990 2004 or Ken Hyland 2002 among others who have consistently defended the need for applied linguistic research into the textual generic and social perspectives on the under researched interrelatedness of the discursual and professional practices of a discipline Specifically this book provides readers with an integrative multi perspective approach to the study of professional domain specific discourses While it mainly draws on the tenets of genre theory and discourse semantics it also nurtures from the theoretical and empirical foundations of applied linguistics cognitive linguistics corpus linguistics and ontological engineering The book starts from the analysis of domain specific texts as final written products with specific lexico grammatical semantic and rhetorical features to later enquire into the written products as textual artefacts closely linked to the social context of production and interpretation of the text This integrative approach provides fresh new insights into the way the processes of writing are affected by the community specific institutional and socio historical circumstances in which domain specific texts are produced

Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001 American Book Publishing Record ,1998 Communication Skills John W. Davies,2001 Rev ed of Communication for engineering students John W Davies 2nd ed 1996 The Acquisition of Written Language Sarah Warshauer Freedman,1985 This volume addresses a central question in the acquisition of written language the interrelated roles of response and revision and begins to account both for the cognitive processes underlying learning to write and the social context of schooling Both perspectives are crucial to understanding the acquisition of writing The first section examines the language of instruction to see how response and revision are accomplished in instructional settings The second section investigates the role of the computer as respondent and the usefulness of its aid during revision The final section challenges both traditional ways of studying revision and past assumptions about parts of the revision process They offer a new perspective for studying revision and its relationship to response

The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1980 Under Construction Christine Farris,Chris M Anson,1998-11 Few composition scholars two decades ago would have imagined the rate at which their field is now developing expanding beyond its boundaries creating new alliances and locating new sites for research and generation of knowledge In their introduction to this volume Farris and Anson argue that faced with a welter of competing models compositionists too quickly dichotomize and dismiss The contributors to Under Construction therefore address themselves to the need for commerce among competing visions of the field They represent diverse settings and distinct points of view but their overriding interest is in promoting a view of the field that values interaction and mutual development above dogmatics and isolation
