Cultural Hegemony in the United States Lee Artz,Bren Ortega Murphy,2000-06-23 Popular usage equates hegemony with dominance a meaning far from Antonio Gramsci s original concept where hegemony appears as a contested culture that meets the minimum needs of the majority while serving the interests of the dominant class This text is the first to present cultural hegemony in its original form as a process of consent resistance and coercion Hegemony is illustrated with examples from American history and contemporary culture including practices that represent race gender and class in everyday life U S cultural hegemony depends in part on how well media government and other dominant institutions popularize beliefs and organize practices that promote individualism and consumerism Corporate dominance and market values reign only through the consent of the majority which for the time being finds material political and cultural benefit from existing social relations As deep social contradictions undermine brittle hegemonic relations the subordinate majority including blacks women and workers will seek a new cultural hegemony that overcomes race gender and class inequality      Towards A Semiotic

Housework and Gender in American Television Kristi Rowan Humphreys, 2015-10-29 Housework and Gender in American Television Coming Clean examines representations of housework and their relationships with gender in sixty of the most popular television shows of the 1950s through the 1980s searching for trends similarities inconsistencies and meaning Much of the critical scholarship addressing mid century televised housework claims that domestic activities marginalize female characters removing them from scenes involving important familial discussions and placing them in devalued positions This book challenges the notion that housework functions primarily as a mechanism through which female characters are marginalized devalued invisible or passive and instead proposes a different reading of housework in television one that brings to the fore the loving sacrificial and active qualities so crucial and foundational to housework activity in both representation and reality These qualities in turn attach a strength to female characters and male characters when applicable that is often ignored in standard feminist analyses of television This study reveals roughly twenty trends established in four decades of televised housework from the housewives of the fifties to the witches and genies of the sixties to the elimination of male domestic labor in the seventies to the dominance of male housekeepers in the eighties
