Teacher Preparation and Practice

Reconsideration of Assessment for Learning introduces the reader to a collection of thoughtful research based works by authors that represent current thinking about assessment What we know is that assessments are designed and implemented in educational settings both university based teacher preparation and school based teacher practice in school classrooms that serve to inform and guide teaching and learning We also know that there is a dichotomy between assessment of learning summative and assessment for learning formative that is recognized on a global level in teacher preparation Importantly the reported research examines assessment and the application of professional judgment guided by assessment for learning in contrast to the more normalizing assessment of learning that currently pervades the nature of assessment in teacher preparation and practice There is a need in the work of teaching for assessments that focus on cultural competence and relational sensitivity communication skills and the combination of rigor and imagination fundamental to the teaching and learning practices in classrooms Each chapter focuses on assessment and the preparation and practice of teachers who will enter classrooms to instruct the next generation of students Chapter One opens the book with a focus on assessment and its relationship to teaching and learning in the classroom providing the reader with an introduction to the book and an understanding of the role assessment plays in teacher preparation and practice The authors of Chapters Two Nine present field based research that examines assessment in teacher preparation and practice Each chapter offers the reader an examination of assessment in teacher preparation and practice based on formal research that provides the reader with insight into how the research study was conducted as well as equally important the findings and conclusions drawn with respect to assessment and teacher preparation and practice Finally Chapter Ten presents an epilogue that focuses on the future of assessment in teacher preparation and practice

Research Methodology KHRITISH SWARGIARY,2025-05-01

It is with great pleasure and a deep sense of responsibility that I present this book titled Research Methodology for B A 5th Semester Gauhati University This book has been meticulously crafted to serve as a comprehensive guide for students enrolled in the Four Year Undergraduate Programme FYUGP specifically for the course titled Research Methodology under the subject of Education As an integral part of the B A curriculum this subject has been designed not only to equip students with the fundamental knowledge and skills required in the field of educational research but also to foster a deeper understanding of its significance in the academic and professional spheres Research plays an essential role in the continuous development of educational systems and policies It provides the foundation for evidence based decision making supports the exploration of new ideas and promotes an informed and reflective approach to the teaching learning process The course outlined in this book covers the key aspects of educational research ensuring that students are introduced to both theoretical concepts and practical applications that will guide them throughout their academic and professional journeys The learning outcomes of this course as described aim to empower students with a robust understanding of the concepts surrounding educational research They will gain knowledge of the various types of educational research fundamental applied and action research along with the key steps involved in conducting meaningful research Students will also learn the intricacies of preparing a research proposal a skill that will be invaluable for their future research endeavors The contents of this book are divided into five main units In Unit 1 we explore the meaning definitions characteristics and objectives of educational research offering an in depth understanding of its scope and importance In Unit 2 we dive into the process of formulating a research proposal including the development of research questions objectives hypotheses and the use of research tools such as questionnaires interview schedules and observation schedules Unit 3 focuses on the review of related literature emphasizing its nature sources and the critical role it plays in shaping the direction of research Unit 4 delves into research design the significance of population and sample selection and the methods of data collection organization analysis and interpretation Finally in Unit 5 we discuss report writing guiding students through the structure and organization of research reports which is crucial for presenting their research findings in a clear and professional manner This book is designed not only to support students in their coursework but also to inspire a passion for research and inquiry It is my hope that students upon completing this course will not only understand the process of conducting educational research but also develop the critical thinking skills necessary to engage in thoughtful reflective and impactful research in the field of education The content of this book has been carefully curated to align with the syllabus prescribed by Gauhati University for the 5th semester of the B A program ensuring that the material is both relevant and applicable to the students academic pursuits Additionally I have included practical examples illustrations and exercises to further enhance the learning experience and to ensure that students are able to apply theoretical knowledge to real world situations I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to the faculty members of Gauhati University for their support in this endeavor and to the students who will benefit from this book I sincerely hope that this book serves as a valuable resource for all those seeking to expand their understanding of research methodology in education May it inspire future researchers educators and policymakers to contribute meaningfully to the field of education and to the betterment of society at large

Mojekwu, Lawrence Atepor, Emmanuel Adinyira, Gabriel Nani, Emmanuel Bamfo-Agyei, 2025-02-07 This book is Volume 1 of the proceedings of 2023 Sustainable Education and Development Research Conference This volume concentrates on papers in the area of clean energy Despite considerable progress more than 700 million people worldwide still lack access to electricity and around 2.4 billion people continue to use harmful and polluting fuels for cooking While efforts have been made to promote renewable energy and energy efficiency they have not been fast enough to achieve Sustainable Development Goal 7 Adding to the challenge the ongoing war in Ukraine has contributed to rising global energy prices and heightened energy insecurity in Europe In response to the energy crisis some European countries are planning to accelerate the transition to renewables and increase investments in clean energy and energy efficiency However others are considering a resurgence of coal which poses a risk to the overall green transition Between 2010 and 2020 the percentage of the global population with access to electricity increased from 83% to 91% with 1.3 billion people gaining access. Nevertheless, this leaves approximately 733 million people still without electricity, and most of them reside in sub-Saharan Africa. Achieving universal access by 2030, the annual growth rate in access needs to accelerate from 0.5 percentage points to 0.9 percentage points, necessitating significant efforts in low-income, fragile, and conflict-affected countries. In 2020, 69% of the global population had access to clean cooking fuels and technologies. While more than half of those without access to clean cooking fuels live in Asia, the 20 countries with the lowest percentage of people having access to clean cooking were predominantly least developed countries in Africa. The share of renewable sources in total final energy consumption reached 17.7% globally in 2019, just slightly higher than the figure for 2015. The electricity sector leads in the adoption of renewables, accounting for 26.2% of total final energy consumption in 2019, while the heat and transport sectors have made limited progress. Global primary energy intensity, defined as global total energy supply per unit of GDP, improved from 5.6 megajoules per dollar (2017 purchasing power parity) in 2010 to 4.7 megajoules in 2019. However, the rate of improvement, 1.6% per year on average since 2015, falls short of the 3.2% annual rate needed to reach Sustainable Development Goal 7.3. International financial flows to support clean and renewable energy in developing countries reached 10.9 billion in 2019, a 23.6% decrease from 2018. This decline occurred even before the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. Over a longer five-year moving average, average annual commitments decreased for the first time since 2008, from 17.5 billion in 2014 to 16.6 billion in 2015. Although developing countries achieved a record of 245.7 watts per capita in installed renewable energy generating capacity in 2020, small island developing States, least developed countries, and landlocked developing countries have lagged behind. It would take least developed countries and landlocked developing countries nearly 40 years, and small island developing States almost 15 years, to reach the same level of progress as the average developing country in 2020. The 2023 SEDRC conference, titled Sustainable Development and Education, aims to redefine the understanding of research in the continent's development and the role of researchers. The conference focusses on applied research discussions and its dissemination. Researchers from research institutions, academicians, postgraduate students, politicians, and industry representatives will be the primary audience for the conference proceedings.
