

DIALITICAL JOURNALS

The term “dialectic” means “the art or practice of seeking out the truth by using conversation, posing questions and answers.” Think of your classwork journal as a series of conversations with the texts we read during this course. This process is essential for how you develop a better understanding of the texts we read. Use your journal to incorporate your personal responses to the texts, your ideas about the themes we cover and our class discussions. You will find that it is a useful way to process what you’re reading, prepare yourself for group discussion, and gather textual evidence for your literary analysis assignments.

PROCEDURE:

- a. At the end of, individual passages that stand out to you, and record them in the left-hand column. The right column MUST include page numbers.
- b. In the right column, write your responses to that text (observations, questions, reflections, and comments on specific passages)
- c. You must label your responses using the following codes:
 - Q: Question—ask about something in the passage that is unclear
 - C: Connect—make a connection to your life, the world, or another text
 - R: Reflect—reflect on what you’ve learned or what’s in the passage
 - CL: Clarify—answer writer questions or comments/clarify or provide flow
 - R: Reflect—think deeply about what the passage means in a broad sense—not just for the characters in the story/narrator or the culture, think about how it can you think about the world, about human nature, or just the way things work
 - R: Evaluate—make a judgment about what the author is trying to say

Make sure to use it correctly. Using the same colors for most of all of your entries will result in a lower score.
1. “The yellow marker is the college textbooks, and not the the very best.”	94/95	CL I can relate how I often used to highlight what I thought was important and then end up with most of the page highlighted.
2. “Overthinking is making the mind a lot slower and I wish I didn’t have to do that. It is an awful burden. As I’ve read it you have to remember that you have to remember that you have to do that. So now I actually must, because it’s too hard to be overthinking.”	95/96	CC It is funny to hear someone of Jason talk like this. (CC) People are going to find this book easy to do something. Since there’s really no easy way to remember things or read or think about the text and think about the text. (CC) It is really harder to take read it you have to remember.
