Agricultural Engineering Research Development In Nepal:

An evolving paradigm of agricultural mechanization development: How much can Africa learn from Asia? Diao, Xinshen, ed., Takeshima, Hiroyuki. ed., Zhang, Xiaobo, ed., 2020-12-07 Agricultural mechanization in Africa south of the Sahara especially for small farms and businesses requires a new paradigm to meet the needs of the continent's evolving farming systems Can Asia with its recent success in adopting mechanization offer a model for Africa An Evolving Paradigm of Agricultural Mechanization Development analyzes the experiences of eight Asian and five African countries The authors explore crucial government roles in boosting and supporting mechanization from import policies to promotion policies to public good policies Potential approaches presented to facilitating mechanization in Africa include prioritizing market led hiring services eliminating distortions and developing appropriate technologies for the African context The role of agricultural mechanization within overall agricultural and rural transformation strategies in Africa is also discussed The book's recommendations and insights should be useful to national policymakers and the development community who can adapt this knowledge to local contexts and use it as a foundation for further research Proceedings of the International

Transforming Gender and Food Security in the Global South Jemimah Njuki,John Parkins,Amy Kaler,2016-11-25

Drawing on studies from Africa Asia and South America this book provides empirical evidence and conceptual explorations of the gendered dimensions of food security It investigates how food security and gender inequity are conceptualized within interventions assesses the impacts and outcomes of gender responsive programs on food security and gender equity and addresses diverse approaches to gender research and practice that range from descriptive and analytical to strategic and transformative The chapters draw on diverse theoretical perspectives including transformative learning feminist theory deliberative democracy and technology adoption As a result they add important conceptual and empirical material to a growing literature on the challenges of gender equity in agricultural production A unique feature of this book is the integration of both analytic and transformative approaches to understanding gender and food security The analytic material shows how food security interventions enable women and men to meet the long term nutritional needs of their households and to enhance their economic position The transformative chapters also document efforts to build durable and equitable relationships between men and women addressing underlying social cultural and economic causes of gender inequality Taken together these combined approaches enable women and men to reflect on gendered divisions of labor and resources related to food and to reshape these divisions in ways which benefit families and communities Co published with the International

Development Research Centre Advancements in IIMI's Research, 1992 International Irrigation Management Institute,1992 Agricultural mechanization policy options in Rwanda Takeshima, Hiroyuki,Benimana, Gilberthe,Spielman, David J.,Warner, James,2024-05-13 This paper summarizes general demand and supply side issues for agricultural mechanization based on recent studies that focus on experiences and evidence from both Africa and Asia The paper provides typologies of agricultural mechanization in Rwanda along with policy options within the context of its current mechanization support strategies Provincial variations in agroecology and cropping systems irrigated rainfed systems farm size and labor use intensity among other factors characterize the key types of mechanization use in Rwanda Support for mechanization in Rwanda can be broadly tailored to a irrigated medium scale farmers in the Eastern province and Kigali b rainfed medium scale farmers in the Eastern and Southern provinces c rainfed small scale highland farmers in the Northern province and d irrigated small scale farmers in the Western province Recent experiences in other countries with rugged terrain and smallholder farming systems similar to Rwanda suggest that significant growth in the use of tractors is possible in the medium term among smallholders cultivating rainfed maize and legumes in addition to irrigated rice However farm wages may still be too low in Rwanda and tractor hiring fees may still be too high to induce a shift to mechanization in the short term Therefore it may be advisable for policy support for mechanization to focus on improving the understanding of mechanization needs among each type of farmers identified knowledge of suitable machines and required skills for their operations and maintenance Such efforts should also balance the need to develop competitive markets and supply networks for promising machines parts and repair services at a viable and integrated market scale Developing a hydrological
