Morgan, 1988 UN publication sales no E 88 III A 4 The Roots of Acehnese Rebellion, 1989-1992 Tim Kell, 2010 When armed insurgents began to attack government soldiers in the Indonesian province of Aceh with increasing frequency in the middle of 1989 it was apparent that this distinctive part of the far flung republic was adding yet another period of turmoil rebellion and blood letting to those that had marked its history over the previous hundred years Famous for their long war against the Dutch in the last quarter of the nineteenth century the Acehnese were equally well known for their willingness to resort to arms to defend their identity and interests against the encroachments of postindependence Indonesian governments As early as 1953 a rebellion had broken out against the central government and in the latter part of the 1970s another attempt had been made to foment revolt This study seeks to explain the reasons for the most recent uprising in Aceh Part One sketches the region s history up to the mid 1960s Part Two examines the economic political and social changes that have occurred in Aceh over the past quarter of a century under the New Order regime the roots of rebellion in the province This analysis goes beyond the period defined in the title of the study the end of rebellion does not mean that its root causes have been resolved Part Three looks at the rebellion itself and at the complexion of political power in Aceh in the early 1990s Part Four summarizes the principal arguments of the monograph The main thesis of this study is that exploitation of Aceh s resources for the benefit of the central government economic stagnation in the province itself governmental and political overcentralization which has served to disenfranchise the people of the region and social changes which have led to the mass of Acehnese losing their traditional social and political leaders have combined to open the way for an armed separatist movement to foment rebellion in the province How To Become A Modernized Country: China Modernization Report Outlook (2001-2016) Chuanqi He, 2020-08-18 Modernization is a complex phenomenon in the world and is termed as a development goal in some countries and regions This book the first of its kind discusses how a country can become modernized It takes a new approach to addressing core issues in the era of globalization

Bissonnette,Stephane Bernard,Rodolphe De Koninck,2011-03-01 Since the 1960s Southeast Asia s agricultural sector has experienced phenomenal growth with increases in production linked to an energy intensive capitalization of agriculture and the rapid development of agrifood systems and agribusiness Agricultural intensification and territorial expansion have been key to this process with expansion of areas under cultivation playing an unusually important role in the transformation of the countryside and livelihoods of its inhabitants Borneo with vast tracts of land not yet under crops has been the epicenter of this expansion process with rubber and oil palm acting as the spearhead Indonesia s Kalimantan provinces and the Malaysian states of Sabah and Sarawak have all undergone major changes but the time frames have varied as have the crops involved Agricultural expansion in Borneo is both an economic and a political process and it has brought about profound socio economic transformations including deforestation and development of communication networks There has also been rapid population growth much faster than in either Indonesia or Malaysia as a whole with attendant pressures on employment housing and social services Until the end of the 20th century agricultural expansion in Indonesia and Malaysia was largely state driven with the goal of poverty reduction Subsequently as in Borneo boom crop expansion has been taken over by private corporations that are driven by profit maximization rather than poverty reduction From the Ground Up Patrick

Daly,R Michael Feener,Anthony J S Reid,2012 The tsunami that struck a dozen countries around the Indian Ocean on 26 December 2004 evoked international sympathy on a scale beyond any previous natural disaster The international relief effort broke all records both in scale and diversity with seven billion U S dollars donated from all over the world through public and private agencies for Sumatra alone Simply as a reconstruction effort therefore the disbursement of those funds and the rebuilding of housing infrastructure and economy posed major national and international challenges However this was not simply a reconstruction effort Aceh at that time was a war zone with Indonesia s military engaged in a major operation to crush a separatist rebellion that had been simmering since 1976 Even though the funds had been donated for tsunami relief any real reconstruction of Aceh had to consider the impact of the conflict on the well being of the population as well as governance and administrative capacities This volumes serves the purpose not only of discussing some of the lessons of the Aceh reconstruction and peace processes but also of maintaining critical links between Aceh and the international community after the initial tranches of aid expire

The Role of Opinion Leaders in the Diffusion of New Knowledge Gershon Feder,Sara Savastano,2006 The paper reviews the literature on the characteristics and impact of opinion leaders on the diffusion of new knowledge concluding that there is no clear evidence on whether opinion leaders are more effective if they are similar in socioeconomic attributes to the other farmers rather than superior to would be followers A multivariate analysis of the changes in integrated pest management knowledge in Indonesia among follower farmers over the period 1991 98 indicates that opinion leaders who are superior to followers but not excessively so are more effective in transmitting knowledge Excessive socioeconomic distance is shown to reduce the effectiveness of diffusion The paper then derives operational implications of the empirical results

Capitalists in Asia Mario Rutten, 2005-08-18 This is a comparative study of small capitalists and rural industrialists in three Asian countries Studies on the entrepreneurial class in South Asia tend to focus on the structural aspects of entrepreneurial behaviour while studies on this class in Southeast Asia tend to focus on cultural aspects of their behaviour In fact this book points to striking similarities between Indian overseas Chinese and Muslim businessmen in Asia similarities usually hidden under variations in analytical approaches Although this study emphasizes similarities within Asia it does not support the view of a specific Asian business pattern different to the rise of non Asian especially European entrepreneurs The findings are of major interest not just within the fields of anthropology and entrepreneurship but to all scholars working on South or Southeast Asia who will find much of interest in the author's observations of variable research results between the two Revolution? John D. Overton, John Overton, 1994 The main aim of this book is to investigate the relationship between colonialism and agricultural development It focuses on Malaysia and rice production and investigates why a green revolution did not take place in colonial times when in several ways the preconditions were laid for this It is shown that colonial agricultural policy was based on a low cost low tech model of rural development which nevertheless offered a more sustainable approach than methods employed subsequently to achieve advances in grain production The book draws on a wide variety of archival data and is aimed at social scientists concerned with colonial history peasant transformations and agricultural change
