Structural Equation Modeling in Educational Research ,2009-01-01 Over the years researchers have developed statistical methods to help them investigate and interpret issues of interest in many discipline areas These methods range from descriptive to inferential to multivariate statistics As the psychometrics measures in education become more complex vigorous and robust methods were needed in order to represent research data efficiently One such method is Structural Equation Modeling SEM SEM is a statistical technique that allows the simultaneous analysis of a series of structural equations It also allows a dependent variable in one equation to become an independent variable in another equation It is a comprehensive statistical approach to testing hypotheses about relations among observed and latent variables SEM is commonly known as causal modeling or path analysis which hypothesizes causal relationships among variables and tests the causal models with a linear equation system As educational research questions become more complex they need to be evaluated with more sophisticated tools The pervasive use of SEM in the literature has shown that SEM has a potential to be of assistance to modern educational researchers This book will bring together prominent educators and researchers from around the world to share their contemporary research on structural equation modeling in educational settings The chapters provide information on recent trends and developments and effective applications of the different models to answer various educational research questions This book is a critical and specialized source that describes recent advances in SEM in international academia The Principal as Instructional Leader Sally J. Zepeda, 2014-01-09 First Published in 2013 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Supervision for Today's Schools George E. Pawlas, Peter F. Oliva, 2007-06-29 Specifically designed for the introductory course this text provides an overview of the field of instructional supervision Acquaints students with not only the authors views on supervision but with those of other specialists in the field placing heavy emphasis on practice and the supervisor s responsibilities as an instructional leader Continues to stress that the relationship between the supervisor and teacher is built on trust and that the overall goal is to improve student achievement through better instruction

Encyclopedia of Educational Leadership and Administration Fenwick W. English, 2006-02-16 The SAGE Encyclopedia of Educational Leadership and Administration presents the most recent theories research terms concepts ideas and histories on educational leadership and school administration as taught in preparation programs and practiced in schools and colleges today With more than 600 entries written by more than 200 professors graduate students practitioners and association officials the two volumes of this encyclopedia represent the most comprehensive knowledge base of educational leadership and school administration that has as yet been compiled Secondary and Middle School Methods Allan C. Ornstein, Thomas J. Lasley, Gayle Mindes, 2005 Secondary and Middle School Methods prepares secondary school teachers and help experienced teachers improve their teaching and instruction by focusing on the methods and principles of teaching the how to approach Combining a broad approach of methodology from research to theory to practice this text helps the prospective teacher understand the essential methods and principles necessary for professional competence The authors also address current issues in today s society such as No Child Left Behind and teaching diverse learners and examine the effects of federal legislation on students and teachers In addition an assortment of activities tables and topics for discussion prepare the reader for future application to secondary school settings serving diverse populations of students Educational Leadership for Ethics and Social Justice Anthony H. Normore, Jeffrey S. Brooks, 2014-01-01 The purpose of this book is to examine and learn lessons from the way leadership for social justice is conceptualized in several disciplines and to consider how these lessons might improve the preparation and practice of school leaders In particular we examine philosophy anthropology sociology economics political science public policy and psychology Our contention is that the field of educational leadership might consider taking a step backward in order to take several forward That is educational leadership researchers might re examine social justice both in terms of social and individual dynamics and as disciplinary specific multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary phenomenon By adopting this approach we can connect and extend long established lines of conceptual and empirical inquiry and thereby gain insights that may otherwise be overlooked or assumed This holds great promise for generating refining and testing theories of social justice in educational leadership and will help strengthen already vibrant lines of inquiry That is rather than citing a single or a few works out of their disciplinary context it might be more fruitful to situate educational leadership for social justice research in their respective traditions This could be carried out by extending extant lines of inquiry in educational leadership research and then incorporating lessons gleaned from this work into innovative practice For example why not more clearly establish lines of educational leadership and justice research into the Philosophy of Social Justice Economics of Social Justice Political Studies of Social Justice Sociology of Social Justice Anthropology of Social Justice and the Public Policy of Social Justice as focused and discrete areas of inquiry Once this new orientation toward the knowledge base of social justice and educational leadership is laid we might then seek to explore some of the natural connections between traditions before ultimately investigating justice in educational leadership through a free association of ideas as the worlds of practice and research co construct a new language they can use to discuss educational leadership Such an endeavor may demand reconceptualization of both the processes and products of collaborative research and the communication of findings but it will demand a breaking down of methodological and epistemological biases and a more meaningful level and type of engagement between primary and applied knowledge bases
