State Capability in India T. V. Somanathan,Gulzar Natarajan,2022-04-04 The deficiencies in the capability of the state to design and implement effective policies are arguably the biggest development challenge facing developing countries like India This book seeks to assess state capability in India identify weaknesses in policy design and programme implementation and their causes and propose some measures to remedy them Importantly it does so while recognizing political economy constraints and focusing predominantly on the administrative contributors To this extent the book s suggestions are practical enough for adoption by stakeholders at different levels It describes the institutional design constitutional provisions the organizational structure and the personnel of the Indian state It covers a wide spectrum of aspects impacting state capability ranging from ideological narratives and systemic constraints to procedural and personnel management issues to the behaviours and attitudes of individual bureaucrats It offers a new analytical framework to think about effectiveness of state on the policy making process It also offers a nuanced perspective and suggestions on many of the popular themes in public administration size of the state generalist and specialist debates lateral entry digital monitoring systems in governance outsourcing and private participation use of consultants risk aversion in bureaucracies performance based incentives programme evaluations and so on Finally being participants and observers in the bureaucratic system the authors describe reality without always seeking to locate it in the framework of existing academic literature thereby offering fresh insights and enriching the discourse on state capability World Development Report 2006 World Bank,2005-09-28 The World Development Report 2006 Equity and Opportunity presents a social development strategy organized around the themes of social inclusion cohesion and accountability It examines equality of opportunities a potentially important factor affecting both the workings of the investment environment and the empowerment of the poor by building on and extending existing accountability frameworks presented in the 2005 Report The Report is divided into three parts Part I describes patterns of inequality in a range of variables both at the national and global level incomes educational achievements health indicators power and influence Part II highlights reasons why some levels of inequality in the variables presented in Part I may be too high whether for intrinsic reasons or because they harm the attainment of competing values such as the level of goods and services in the economy Part III discusses policies that affect the relationship between equity and the development process at a national and global level This section includes policies that could help reduce the levels of some intermediate inequalities and focuses on circumstances in which these policies form the basis for more rapid overall development and faster poverty reduction Now in its twenty eighth edition the World Development Report offers practical insights for policymakers business developers economic advisers researchers and professionals in the media and in non governmental organizations It is also an essential supplement to economic and development courses in both academic and professional settings SouthSouth Trade and Finance in the Twenty-First Century Omar Dahi,Firat Demir,2016-10-10 This book is a contribution to the international trade and economic development literature and is based on a decade of joint research and collaboration on South South economic relations Given the increasing focus on the economic power of some developing countries for example the 2013 Human Development Report s Rise of the South it is particularly appropriate and timely NP The book s findings are based on rigorous empirical examination of South South trade and finance and it provides an even handed assessment from the perspective of long term development goals rather than mainstream welfare approaches or ideological theoretical worldview NP This work directly engages with the new developmentalism literature that has challenged the neoliberal orthodoxy and its policy approach which focuses on liberalization privatization and deregulation It also engages with literature by examining whether the increase in South South trade facilitates or inhibits the possibilities for developmentalist economic policy in developing countries The book shows concrete and positive results from South South trade particularly related to industrial development and also documents how South South trade is dominated by large developing countries and that South South trade liberalization may be counterproductive

Women, Power, and Property Rachel E Brulé, 2020-10-22 Quotas for women in government have swept the globe Yet we know little about their capacity to upend entrenched social political and economic hierarchies Women Power and Property explores this question within the context of India the world's largest democracy Brul employs a research design that maximizes causal inference alongside extensive field research to explain the relationship between political representation backlash and economic empowerment Her findings show that women in government gatekeepers catalyze access to fundamental economic rights to property Women in politics have the power to support constituent rights at critical junctures such as marriage negotiations when they can strike integrative solutions to intrahousehold bargaining Yet there is a paradox quotas are essential for enforcement of rights but they generate backlash against women who gain rights without bargaining leverage In this groundbreaking study Brul shows how well designed quotas can operate as a crucial tool to foster equality and benefit the women they are meant to empower
