The Routledge Encyclopedia of the Historical Jesus Craig Evans, 2014-01-14 This Encyclopedia brings together the vast array of historical research into the reality of the man the teachings the acts and the events ascribed to him that have served as the foundational story of one of the world's central religions. This kind of historiography is not biography. The historical study of the Jesus stories and the transmission of these stories through time have been of seminal importance to historians of religion. Critical historical examination has provided a way for scholars of Christianity for centuries to analyze the roots of legend and religion in a way that allows scholars an escape from the confines of dogma, belief, and theological interpretation. In recent years, historical Jesus studies have opened up important discussions concerning anti-Semitism and early Christianity and the political and ideological filtering of the Jesus story of early Christianity through the Roman empire and beyond. Entries will cover the classical studies that initiated the new historiography, the theoretical discussions about authenticating the historical record, the examination of sources that have led to the western understanding of Jesus' teachings, and disseminated myth of the events concerning Jesus' birth and death. Subject areas include the history of the historical study of the New Testament, major contributors and their works, theoretical issues and concepts, methodologies and criteria, historical genres and rhetorical styles in the story of Jesus, historical and rhetorical context of martyrdom and messianism, historical teachings of Jesus, teachings within historical context of ethics, titles of Jesus, historical events in the life of Jesus, historical figures in the life of Jesus, historical use of Biblical figures referenced in the Gospels, places and regions, institutions, the history of the New Testament within the culture, politics, and law of the Roman Empire.

Contours in the Text Jonathan D.H.

Norton, 2013-05-01 Norton Piliavsky places Paul's work within the context of ancient Jewish literary practice, bridging the gap between textual criticism and social history in contemporary discussions. The author argues that studies of ancient Jewish exegesis draw on two distinct analytical modes: the text-critical and the socio-historical. He then shows that the two are usually joined together in discussions of ancient Jewish literature, arguing that as a result, commentators often allow the text-critical approach to guide their efforts to understand historical questions. Norton argues that text-critical and historical data must be combined but not conflated, and in this volume sets out a new approach showing that exegesis was part of an ongoing discussion which included mutually supporting written and oral practices. Norton shows that Josephus and Dead Sea sectarians use of textual variation like Paul's belongs to this discussion, demonstrating that neither Paul nor his contemporaries viewed Jewish scripture as a fixed literary monolith. Rather, they took part in a dynamic exegetical dialogue constituted by oral as much as textual modes.

ministry and Christian formation The Conceptual Worlds of the Fourth Gospel Charles B. Puskas, C. Michael Robbins, 2021-01-08 Over and under and through John's story of Jesus are unforgettable ideas and concepts profoundly simple and simply profound for the author's own audience and beyond. These ideas did not originate in a vacuum. They have recurred and been repeated before and after the writing of the Fourth Gospel. For this reason, we will examine the meaning of its words and themes in the context of its Jewish Greco-Roman milieu. Much of our intertextual understanding will be derived from alleged parallels that involve comparisons of similar vocabulary and phrases as well as parallel concepts and images from the Old Testament, the Dead Sea Scrolls, Philo, and other relevant writings. Such parallels will help to determine the meaning of a word or expression, the translation of a particular language, determining any direct influences upon the Fourth Gospel, parallel traditions, or the influence of its ideas as a creative and inspiring work of later antiquity.

A Baptism of Judgment in the Fire of the Holy Spirit Daniel W. McManigal, 2019-05-23 Daniel W. McManigal provides a fresh analysis of the meaning of the baptism in the Holy Spirit and fire and John's baptism as a prophetic sign-act. Expanding upon the sources, grammar, and meaning of the Logion analysing Old Testament and Second Temple texts and discussing the prevalent theme of judgment in baptism, McManigal offers the first extended treatment of the baptism in the Holy Spirit in Matthew's gospel. As a backdrop for the prevalence of judgment in baptism, McManigal locates Matthew's eschatological judgment within the broader Old Testament and apocalyptic literature of the Second Temple, drawing upon texts such as Isaiah 11 and the Isaiah Targum, Malachi 3, Daniel 7:1, Enoch, and 4 Ezra. This volume's analysis aids deeper understanding of how the themes of the Old Testament are woven throughout Matthew's narrative, capitalizing on John's role as the last of the prophets sent to Israel. McManigal focuses in particular on Matthew's foretelling the coming of the Messiah and his call for repentance in order to prepare people for the arrival of the kingdom of God. Drawing out the unique Matthean meaning of the baptism of the coming one, McManigal's study offers readers a new insight into the nature of repenting and prophetic baptism, whether through water, fire, or Spirit.

The Church, Then and Now Stanley E. Porter, Cynthia Long Westfall, 2012-10-26 The church is one of the most intriguing and significant institutions on earth. Because its essence and character are so widely misunderstood, this is a timely book. The church is not a mere human institution; though it is made up of human beings in community, its roles and responsibilities are momentous, but all the elements of its organization came about as the church developed and attempted to fulfill its divine mandate, not as forms given at its founding. These papers from a Bingham Colloquium at McMaster Divinity College treat the church then, in studies of the church in the various parts of the New Testament canon, followed by a historical study of the church under attack in places where it did not survive. The latter part of the book contains essays by several church practitioners from now who discuss their insights about and experiences with postmodern society, home churches, megachurches, and the missional church. Such a combination of biblical theology, history, and practice makes this a valuable book for scholars and practitioners in fact for all thinking members of the church founded
